Pat Nixon—Ghana

ACCRA, Ghana (AP) — President Nixon has definitely decided to run for re-election and his "chances are very good," wife Pat Nixon said on her visit here Wednesday.

She made the remark about his candidacy to reporters.

Asked what the campaign might be like, she replied: "It's going to be whatever type the other side makes it. It might be easy and it might be very difficult because we don't know who's the candidate on the other side yet."

Nixon said in his television interview Sunday night he would make a decision on running before Jan. 14.

Nixon's name has been placed in the New Hampshire Republican primary by the state's former governor, Lane Dwinell. The President has until Jan. 16 to leave his name on the ballot or to order it removed.

Mrs. Nixon had no further comment on her remarks about his candidacy. But she seemed to make it clear the President had decided to run again, although there was little doubt that he would.

The U.S. First Lady flew from the festive air of Liberia's presidential inauguration to Ghana on her African trip.

Ghana, struggling out from under a huge debt left by the administration of Kwame Nkrumah and a stiff currency devaluation, is hoping for more U.S. economic aid, officials said in welcoming speeches. Ghana received $246 million in fiscal 1971.

In reply to a newsman's question on the matter, Mrs. Nixon said, "My husband is for an aid program and his administration is going to be working with Congress to get a decent bill."

Mrs. Nixon was met at the airport by Prime Minister Kofi Busia and U.S. Ambassador Fred Hadsel.

She will stay in Ghana two days, going Friday to Abidjan, capital of the Ivory Coast.

At a news conference Mrs. Nixon said her wish for Africa was peace, so that money spent on war materials "can be used for the people."

Hanoi—POWs

HONG KONG (AP) — The North Vietnamese toughened their terms on the issue of prisoners Wednesday by declaring the United States must end Vietnamization before they are released.

An end to Vietnamization, the U.S. policy of arming and training the South Vietnamese so they can defend themselves, has been implicit in Communist demands.

This was the first time, however, that Vietnamization was directly linked to a release of the prisoners. President Nixon has made Vietnamization a key point in his plans for withdrawal of U.S. forces from Vietnam.

Radio Hanoi declared that "the only way for President Nixon to get the U.S. prisoners of war back to their families," is to observe these two points:

"1. Completely end the war of aggression in Vietnam and withdraw all its troops from Vietnam, and
"2. Completely end the Vietnamization policy of continuing the war." Previously, the Communist negotiators at the Paris peace talks had linked a prisoner release with a timetable for U.S. withdrawal and the overthrow of President Nguyen Van Thieu's regime in South Vietnam.

The talks resume in Paris on Thursday after a month of postponements called by the United States and South Vietnam.

Hanoi declared an end to Vietnamization and a U.S. withdrawal were "important and significant links" in the peace plan submitted by the Viet Cong at the Paris talks last July.

The plan demanded overthrow of Thieu, who would be replaced by a coalition government to include the Viet Cong.

Hanoi asserted Vietnamization was "a plot to withdraw U.S. troops but still continue the war of American aggression by puppet forces under U.S. direction and with U.S. support and supplies."

Auto Sales Record

DETROIT (AP) — U.S. auto sales in 1971, given a late year surge by the wage-price freeze and excise tax repeal, topped 10 million cars for the first time in history.

Sales of domestic and imported cars during the year, as reported by the automakers, totaled 10,155,411, topping the 1968 record of 9.66 million.

December sales, however, were off somewhat from the hot pace of the fall and the U.S. industry's total fell short of a record. Sales by the four major

U.S. automakers totaled 8,676,294, nearly 100,000 cars short of 1965's record domestic sales.

Nonetheless, domestic car sales were up 22 per cent from 1970, when an economic recession and a 67-day strike against General Motors Corp. combined to produce the worst sales of recent years.

Imported car sales set a record, but their share of the total market remained nearly the same as last year at 14.6 per cent.

Reject 12% Aerospace Wage Increase

Hike Stalls Pay Board

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pay Board Wednesday rejected the 12-per-cent wage and salary increase for more than 100,000 workers at five aerospace companies, but failed to reach agreement on a recommendation for a lower figure.

The board rejected 9 to 5 a labor motion to approve the agreements. Later, the board voted again, 9 to 0, to disapprove them, but the five labor members abstained on grounds the matter had been decided by the earlier vote.

Labor members of the board were angered but did not threaten to walk out or to call a strike.

During the afternoon the board debated a motion of the public members to recommend a lower first-year wage increase that Chairman George

H. Boldt said would be "in the range of 8 per cent." However, the board adjourned until Thursday after labor and business members said they found the recommendation unclear.

"We couldn't understand it. It has ghost figures," said AFL-CIO representative Nathan Goldfinger.

Labor sources on the board said the Pay Board would be wasting its time to recommend any specific wage figure anyway. They said the unions involved would renegotiate the contracts without help from the board, and that labor members of the board would abstain from any attempt to set a specific standard for revising the contracts.

The five labor members of the board joined in a statement, read by steelworkers

President I. W. Abel, calling the rejection a broken promise and an attempt to destroy labor-management bargaining.

Leonard Woodcock, President of the United Auto Workers, said that when the board had been working out its original guidelines last Nov. 8 the labor members received what they understood to be a promise that the then-uncompleted aerospace pacts would be honored if they followed the pattern set by the 1970 auto agreements.

Woodcock had reported these assurances to his membership afterward.

Rejection of the agreements came on a 9-5 vote against a motion by labor members to approve the contracts in full. Labor members were outvoted by public and business members. Chairman Boldt abstained.

The board had tried all day Tuesday to reach an agreement on the contracts, after considering the matter twice before. In all, the board has taken more than three weeks to reach a decision.

Newsmen who had been allowed on the board's eighth-floor headquarters Tuesday were kept waiting in the downstairs lobby of the building, with no nearby telephone communication outside the building.

When word of the rejection leaked out, Pay Board public relations spokesmen said they had been ordered not to confirm it. Chief spokesman Wurth turned in his resignation in protest a few minutes later.

Wurth, a retired Air Force colonel on loan from the U.S. Postal Service's public information staff, told Boldt orally he was leaving, then submitted a letter which said in part that he was leaving because of policy differences with executive director Robert P. Tiernan, a former labor lawyer, over the handling of the information program.

Various sources said it was Tiernan who had ordered that no official announcement of the board's action be released until mid-afternoon. He refused to discuss the matter with newsmen until then.

Administration Silent About Anderson Story

WASHINGTON (AP) — While the Nixon administration kept silent Wednesday on the latest leaked-news furor, a House committee announced a congressional inquiry on classification of government secrets.

Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La., chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, said in many instances federal officials have abused their right to classify but, he said, this does not give any individual the right "to unilaterally ignore any classification action and thereby break existing law."

Hebert made no reference to columnist Jack Anderson's release of White House papers on the administration's strategy sessions during the India-Pakistan war.

Newspapers have run lengthy accounts from the secret documents, and FBI and other agents were reported trying to find out who leaked them to Anderson.

Hebert said a subcommittee of his panel will hold hearings soon after Congress reconvenes Jan. 18.

"Recent events clearly indicate that despite existing law we now have an 'open season' on all classified information in government," Hebert said in a statement.

Existing law therefore needs revision, he said, to "strike a proper balance between the right of the public to know and the indispensable ability of our government to function effectively."

Some informants said the most likely source of the latest leak appeared to be someone connected with the National Security Council, which is headed

India Halts Grain Imports Under Foreign Aid Program

NEW DELHI (AP) — India says it has fulfilled a pledge to eliminate the need for importing food grains under aid programs and has canceled a U.S. government commitment for 400,000 tons of wheat to prove it.

Prime Minister Indira Gandhi took the word to the people Wednesday.

"The country's food production this year was such that despite famine conditions in a number of states and a flood havoc in others, we have so much food that storage has become a problem," the government radio said she told a rally in central India.

"We need not import a single grain from any country," Mrs. Gandhi said.

Official figures show that India produced 107 million tons of wheat and rice in 1970 with another record crop of about 115 million tons expected for 1971. India has had a history of hunger and poverty since long before it achieved independence from Britain in 1947. Its food grain imports have exceeded exports since 1921.

Under an 18-year-old arrangement in which the United States sells commodities and uses proceeds to help the recipient country's economy, India has received more commodities in dollar value than any other country.

Effective Jan. 1, the Agriculture Ministry said, India would receive no more food under this arrangement called Public Law 480. That includes, a spokesman said, 400,000 tons of wheat still due under a contract signed last April 1.

As early as last March Indian officials were predicting self-sufficiency in food grains by the end of the year for the 460 million Indians despite the drain on supplies of million of refugees from what was then East Pakistan.

The April agreement with the United States called for 1.7 million tons of which 1.3 million tons have arrived or are en route, a Food Ministry spokesman said.

"This is merely a reiteration of the pledge to Parliament, the people of India and the U.S. government that we would stop importing food grains by the end of the year," he said.

Both the spokesman and the U.S. Embassy insisted that cancellation of the aid agreement has nothing to do with the strain in relations resulting from last month's India-Pakistan war.

The United States suspended $80 million worth of assistance to India during the war, and the State Department said Tuesday in Washington no decision has been made on whether to restore it.

Such other commodities supplied under PL480 as dairy products, cotton and tobacco will continue, the embassy said.

FDA Moves Against Hexachlorophene

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration moved Wednesday to restrict severely the use of cosmetics and other products containing hexachlorophene, acting on the basis of laboratory tests which suggest the chemical may cause brain lesions.

The action would affect hundreds of widely sold products.

The agency's four-point proposal would:

—Bar the use of hexachlorophene in all cosmetics including such popular items as anti-perspirants and feminine hygiene sprays.

—Restrict all skin cleansers containing more than .75 per cent hexachlorophene to hospital and prescription use only.

—Require warning labels on skin cleansers containing less than .75 per cent, while a new panel reviews the safety, effectiveness and labeling of such antibacterial products.

—Put drug and cosmetic manufacturers on notice that an antibacterial agent intended for long-term daily use be adequately tested before marketing.

The agency said it would allow the use of up to 0.1 per cent as a preservative when other preservative methods are unavailable.

The proposal, to be published Thursday in the Federal Register, gives interested parties 60 days to comment.

FDA Commissioner Charles C. Edwards said the government "is not aware of any harm to humans" from proper use of hexachlorophene (HCP) products, although tests have shown that infants absorb the chemical into their bloodstream and laboratory animals bathed with a 3 per cent solution develop brain lesions.

More information is needed about the health implications of cumulative exposure of humans to HCP through drug and cosmetic use, he said. "Until we have such information, the only prudent course is to reduce the total human exposure to HCP."

U.S. Escort Fighter Hits North Vietnam

SAIGON (AP) — A U.S. escort fighter broke off from planes assaulting enemy targets in Laos and made the first air strike of 1972 against North Vietnam, the U.S. Command said Wednesday.

The F105 plane darted 10 miles across the Laotian frontier Tuesday and fired a Shrike missile at a search radar about 45 miles north of the demilitarized zone separating the Vietnamese. The command reported suspected destruction of the site.

The U.S. plane had not sensed a radar lock-on, meaning readiness of an antiaircraft battery to fire, but in recent weeks of increasing antiaircraft activity, even scanning radar signals have been construed as a threat.

With North Vietnamese enemy MIGs hunting U.S. air operations over Laos, B52 bombers, heaviest in America's air arsenal, raided in South Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos for the second straight day, the command reported. Heavy tactical air strikes continued against enemy supply routes and attack forces in Laos.

The North Vietnamese MIGs, seen several times late last year and again in the past two days, have not chosen to get close enough to tangle with U.S. fighters, a command spokesman said.

Other sources termed the MIG appearances in the North Vietnam-Laos border area harassment, possibly calculated to lure U.S. pilots into ambushes over the North.

These sources said recent MIG activity has been no great threat. (Turn To Page Six) (See "Vietnam")

Editorial Comment

John Marshall Harlan

John M. Harlan, whose death came only three months after his retirement, had been for 15 years one of the towering figures on the Supreme Court. The warm testimony of former colleagues emphasizes that he was more than a legal giant whose brilliance adorned the court. They remember him as being, in the words of Justice Potter Stewart, "a beloved brother and a noble friend."

Justice Harlan was best known for two things. He was the leading conservative voice on the court during the Warren years. Further, he enjoyed the reputation of being notably painstaking and thoughtful in applying his grasp of the law to the great questions of the day; his opinions were the very antithesis of hasty or ill-considered or carelessly written judgment. Though his conservative outlook kept him from concurring in some of the sweeping reforms delineated by the Warren court, his qualities as "a human being of great worth" always enriched his interpretations of the Constitution.

When illness forced Justice Harlan's departure from the court late in September, Chief Justice Warren E. Burger said of him: "The quality of his penetrating, incisive mind and the grace of his spirit have made him a unique figure, and he will rank with the great justices of the court." We believe that this will be the verdict of history.

High Priority U.N. Problem

United Nations Secretary General U Thant has now rounded out his ten years in office and given way to Kurt Waldheim. It is noteworthy that in his farewell statement Thant called attention once more to one of the U.N.'s most evident shortcomings, its failure to win big-power agreement on peacekeeping operations in troubled parts of the world.

The course of the conflict between India and Pakistan provided a most striking example of this failure. The U.N. Security Council proved itself helpless in the face of the veto power, and thus saw the situation on the subcontinent deteriorate into bloody combat that might have been averted.

Waldheim, the new secretary general, alluded to this disturbing state of affairs in his acceptance address. Observing that it was the big powers' inability to reach agreement which stymied intervention in the India-Pakistan dispute, he declared, "This was not the organization's fault, but a reflection of the international situation, and it's good that we have such a mirror so we can see the consequences."

Some may say that this begs the question, and to a certain extent they would be right: the big powers often are made the whipping boys when things go wrong. Yet when due allowance has been made for that tendency, the fact remains that such giants as the United States and the Soviet Union, and now China, tend to give their national interests precedence over the interests of world harmony.

Until our government and those of the other great powers show willingness to give up some of the prerogatives of sovereignty for the sake of effective peacekeeping, the U.N. will continue to be stymied. This is a problem that should be given the highest priority by Waldheim as he begins direction of the world body.

Paring Off Holiday Blubber

The season to be jolly having passed, we now enter the season to be worried about blubber accumulated during the season to be jolly. It is a time when supposedly quick, easy ways of losing weight have a mesmeric appeal for those who would like to be slim and fit without going to a lot of trouble.

This makes it an appropriate time, also, to remind those in such a frame of mind that many schemes promising quick and easy loss of weight are at best illusory and at worst a deceptive fraud. The point has been made again by the well-known nutritionist, Dr. Fredrick J. Stare.

Stare scorns diet plans which "relieve a person of the responsibility to think and to make realistic choices."

China Sees Russia As Greater Threat Than U.S.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent
If Peking's propaganda is a guide, Communist China's leaders have conjured up a bad dream for themselves and have concluded that if two foreign devils haunt them the one closer at hand is by far the more ominous.

What Peking is saying seems to lend substance to President Nixon's expressed hope for better relations with mainland China. He said Sunday night he did not expect anything approaching resumed diplomatic relations, but he did hope that his February visit to Peking would produce "normalization in terms of setting up some method of communication better than we currently have." Communists, living in their own world of double talk, do not always say what they mean, but Peking seems agitated about Soviet intentions as it reads them. This involves something like a huge Soviet noose looped about much of that so-called third world of "medium-sized and small nations" in Asia and Africa for which Peking now claims to speak.

As Red China puts it, the Russians are reverting to type, acting like the czars of old trying to establish "a world empire." Peking insists that Soviet activity in the Asian subcontinent is connected with a scheme to build "a seaborne arch" that would extend from the Mediterranean and Black Seas in a southward-dropping semicircle through the Red Sea, the Arabian Sea, the Indian Ocean, the Bay of Bengal, around Southeast Asia and up to the Sea of Japan.

That, said a recent article carried by the official Red Chinese news agency, is why Moscow is so deeply involved in arms aid to India and why the Soviet fleet has shown the flag all along the Arabian Sea and Indian Ocean.

"To turn India into an important base for its expansion in the Indian Ocean, Soviet revisionism has been vigorously bolstering up the Indian reactionaries for years," said the article. Moscow, it said, regarded the Indian-Pakistani war as a good chance to step up Soviet expansion in the Indian Ocean and "further its control of India."

Clearly, the suggestion in all this was that China regarded Russia as the major threat. If the Russian appetite was what Peking seemed to think it was, China alone would be in a poor position to challenge Soviet aims in South and Southeast Asia. But China with communication open to the United States would be better off if only because of an enormous implicit American potential to tip the balance politically or militarily.

There could be dividends for the Americans, too, in easing China's two decades of implacable hostility toward the United States.

President Nixon said his adviser, Henry Kissinger, in his trips to Peking to arrange for the presidential visit, had raised with Premier Chou En-lai the question of American war prisoners in North Vietnam. The President said he, too, intended to raise the question next month.

This issue can well be the major logjam in the way of an Indo-China settlement. If China in fact sees the Soviet Union straining for domination of all Asia, it would seem logical for Peking to establish more meaningful communication with Washington. One way of doing this could be to act as broker between the Americans and the North Vietnamese.

'System' Is Safe

The Young Voters Won't Take Over

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
WASHINGTON (NEA) — The anti-establishment young are neither going to take over the country in 1972 nor vanish into the woodwork of the "system." But both notions have had some nurturing.

When voting finally became a reality for 18-20-year-olds, one young militant said to his father:

"Good. Now we'll take control."

Dreams like that are being clutched urgently by some of the young people who in a month or two may be flooding into the Democratic party's precinct caucuses in several states. These events may bulk large in the party's opened-up presidential nominating process.

Here and there, concentration of effort surely is going to produce results, most likely in the shape of convention delegates for Sen. George McGovern or New York Mayor John Lindsay.

Yet the rewards probably are going to be limited. The reasons are already well recited. Many of the young are not going to vote. A good proportion of those who do are unlikely to go all-out for the more strongly liberal candidates. And, it should not be forgotten, there are millions more voters than ever in the middle and upper end of the age spectrum. Adult suburbia is enormous today.

Some among the young like to tell us that many things, like the Communist world or the "working class," are not monolithic. Well, they aren't either.

Only a third are in college. That heralded 18-20 age bracket includes not only millions of nonstudents but housewives, members of the armed forces, and workers on factory and farm.

The many 1971 samplings of the campus mood suggest, too, that things are just basically quieter these days. Militancy doesn't have the appeal it once did. Listening to student reactions at candidate rallies, I find many kids laughing scornfully at the "far-outs."

None of this, however, means the Anticulture young folk are about to do a fast fade. As the more perceptive social analysts have been saying for three or four years, their hostility toward present-day society goes well beyond the Vietnam war.

Nor do their objections end with the charges against the society of corruption and rottenness.

As writer Irving Kristol noted in a recent Fortune magazine piece, for many of the turned-off young today's affluent world is at best a huge bore and at worst some kind of nightmare. They don't see challenge and excitement but only a smothering sameness.

Neither McGovern nor Lindsay nor the most dashing hero imaginable could quickly change the prospect. Affluence desired seems a romantic cause. Affluence achieved seems strangely empty.

So Kristol is probably right. The anticulture young are going to be with us for a good while to come. Their deepest concerns do indeed touch the grave flaws of the affluent industrial society. Unable to "take over" because they are too few, their limited yet not inconsiderable influence upon us will come from the "outside." Until the day when they learn there are challenges "inside."

Ann Landers:

Time Great Ally

Dear Ann Landers: A few years ago my husband and I were running a mail-order pornography business. At the time, I thought nothing of posing for nude pictures and acting in stag movies. These pictures and movies were sold to customers all over the United States.

We are no longer in the business and I am very much ashamed of my past. It's difficult now for me to understand how I could have been so foolish. The point is — I am worried sick that someone somewhere will recognize me. Every time we attend a social function or meet new friends, I'm a wreck. Is there any way I can rid myself of this terrible fear? — Miserable in Missouri

Dear M. in M.: Time is your greatest ally. Chances are that it has already covered your tracks. My advice is, change the color of your hair (if you haven't already done so) — and keep your clothes on, Lady.

Dear Ann: Last August you published an enthusiastic and grateful letter from a woman who learned about Al-Anon through your column. Within one month we received nearly 10,000 letters as a direct result of that one mention.

The timing was nothing less than miraculous. Had it occurred before our recent move, we'd have been paralyzed by the lack of space. As it is, there is scarcely a place which is not occupied by staff or volunteers sorting the letters by states, cities and towns, thanks to you.

Volunteers have responded nobly. Without them, heaven knows how this beautiful crisis could have been met. There will be no way to get an exact count of how many new members will join Al-Anon as a result of that single letter in your column. There is little doubt that Al-Anon has no more effective and enthusiastic friend in all the world than Ann Landers. Long may she live and write her spirited columns! — The Staff
Dear Staff: Thanks for those kind words. Now, get ready for more mail.

For all you readers out there who are living with an alcoholic, I urge you to write to the National Headquarters of this splendid organization, Al-Anon. You might learn that you are an unwitting factor in the alcoholism of a husband or wife. You might also learn how to help him or her win the battle of the bottle. The address is Al-Anon Family Group Headquarters, Inc., Dept. B, P.O. Box 182, Madison Square Station, New York, New York 10019. Write for a free booklet. And please enclose a self-addressed stamped envelope. Postage can run into money. Take it from someone who knows.

Dear Ann Landers: Please settle a serious difference of opinion in our family. You don't need to go into any long scientific explanations, just a yes or a no will be sufficient. The questions are as follows:

(1) Can two adults with straight hair produce a child with tight ringlets?
(2) Can two adults with very light blonde hair produce a child whose hair is dark brown?

Everything I have read indicated that the answer to both these questions is NO. What do you say? — Facts Wanted

Dear F.W.: I don't know what you have been reading but the answer to both questions is yes.

Confidential to Finders Keepers: Sorry, I don't think much of your "logic." The rest of the saying is — "Losers Weepers." Do you want to be responsible for all those tears?

YOUR BIRTHDAY AND HOROSCOPE

By STELLA WILDER

THURSDAY, JANUARY 6 — Born today, you are a peace-maker by nature. Whenever you encounter tensions, whether in your work or otherwise, you begin at once—indeed, almost automatically—to seek the cause and to solve the difficulties. Unwilling to interfere in the arguments of others in the sense that you will not take sides, one against the other, you will nevertheless offer your services as a mediator. Freely and completely, you will give your energies and your objectivity over to the settlement of disputes.

Optimistic in your approach to whatever you do, you are not one to enter upon any project in fear and trepidation. Even when you know yourself to be unprepared for a given task, you always have hopes that some fluke will pull you through successfully. Naturally, such an attitude causes you to take on more than you can chew at times—but it also enables you to take on and experience adventures you might otherwise miss.

You enjoy travel tremendously but will probably be able to indulge this love only seldom during your lifetime—unless you are fortunate enough to enter upon a career with travel as one of its aspects. There will be periods during your working years when you may be highly tempted to throw everything over and hit the open road; sense, however, will prevail.

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Friday, January 7

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20) — Get around to seeing friends you've been neglecting lately. Morning hours bring you close to a solution to a problem.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19) — Encourage a congenial atmosphere on the employment scene. Don't take it too much to heart, however, should you fail.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 21) — The demands of today's chores may be more than you bargained for. If a student, make arrangements for legal borrowings.

ARIES (March 22-April 20) — A day which could be more than a little spectacular. Don't neglect your own instinctive desire to create.

TAURUS (April 21-May 21) — An unusual day of exceptional work. Don't be surprised should others come to you for—or with—advice on good living.

GEMINI (May 22-June 21) — Familiarize yourself with new methods that can be applied to old chores. Be first on the employment scene with the new intelligence.

CANCER (June 22-July 23) — Service to others also serves you today. Don't be afraid to step out of character for a while; the change does you good.

LEO (July 24-Aug. 23) — Take care that what you take to be a witicism doesn't actually shock higher-ups. You could spoil things lined up for tomorrow.

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23) — The close attention demanded by the details of today's operations may cause you some concern. Call on others.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23) — Superficial attention to duty will do you less good than no attention at all. Realize the potential of another.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) — If between jobs, take some time to look carefully into a total change of career. Otherwise, stay where you are—for the moment.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22) — Where career goals have grown hazy, you might be wise to talk things over with a partner, business or domestic. Keep plans flexible.

T. (Jack) Taylor,
Retired Pike
Farmer, Dies

PITTSFIELD—Turley (Jack) Taylor, 69, of rural Pittsfield died at 12:55 p.m. Tuesday at Illinois hospital here.

He was born April 4, 1902, in Parsons, Kansas, son of Charles H. and Nella E. King Taylor. He moved here from California in 1941.

Survivors include his mother, Mrs. Nella Taylor of Van Nuys, Calif.; his wife, Marcine McCarter Taylor; two sons, Marcus of Minneapolis, Minn., and Matthew Ken of Pittsfield; a daughter, Marcine Alta Ruth Taylor of Pittsfield; a sister, Mrs. Marjorie Demming of Van Nuys, Calif.; and a grandson, Jon Christian Taylor of Minneapolis.

One son preceded in death. The deceased was a farmer until his retirement in 1968.

Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Friday at the Plattner Funeral Chapel with burial in West cemetery.

There will be no visitation. The family requests that friends consider memorials to the charity of the donor's choice.

KING SEATED
IN THRONE ROOM

A 26-year-old Jacksonville resident, self-proclaimed as "The King" took up residence in the throne room at the Morgan county courthouse early Wednesday before being removed by the sheriff and a city policeman.

The man was noticed by courthouse employees seated in the judge's chair in the circuit courtroom. Inquiries directed to the man brought replies some what confusing since the courtroom was vacant.

Sheriff Harold Wright and a city policeman removed the young man from the courtroom and found that he was an ex-patient at Jacksonville State Hospital.

The hospital wouldn't take him back, authorities said, and he was returned to his residence.

When authorities returned, the young man was described as "calmed down" and no further action was necessary.

Business — Market Wrapup

Business Mirror

By JOHN CUNIFF
NEW YORK (AP) — Soon to be examined by the Securities and Exchange Commission is a corporate prospectus that in all probability will contain the warning: "These securities involve the highest degree of risk."

Investors in risky enterprises generally are enticed by the prospects of profits or dividends. But, rather than distributing its profits, this company intends to plow them right back into product development.

Financial dividends will be modest. There will be no extras of any kind. In fact, the greatest reward for those who risk their money will be satisfaction, because the company's product is social good.

Nevertheless, the founders are concerned that demand for the stock could cause its price to soar, bringing it to be labeled, embarrassingly, a glamor stock. "That could be a serious image problem," they say.

A traditional assessment of such a company would have to be negative. Its proponents would be considered naive, its future would be deemed almost without hope. And that is just what many people thought at first.

Now that The Public Equity Corp. is about to enter registration, the attitudes are changing. Rather than being visionaries, as first thought, the founders are seen to be men of knowledge, business acumen and level-headedness.

If the company does succeed in going public, and selling 2.5 million shares at $10 each, it will mark a milestone in the development of capitalism—a public corporation that lives off correcting the sins of capitalism.

It assumes that the abuses of the system—the faulty products, fraud, pollution, human misery—are best corrected by legal challenges from an equally powerful corporate counterforce that would file class action, triple-damage suits.

Thomas Mechling, former Democratic senatorial nominee from Nevada, public affairs consultant, public relations man—for the National Association of Manufacturers—is largely responsible for bringing the idea to its present stage.

It will be the public, however, which determines the future, and so the most critical time for the embryo corporation will occur in late spring or summer, when shares likely will go on sale.

Nobody can really say at this time how strongly or weakly the public will support the offering. Investors generally have managed in the past to separate their moral convictions from their investment goals.

Oldtime Wall Streeters say any hot new issue is fueled by hopes if not greed for profit. A new corporation offering only public good will not satisfy private yearnings.

LATE CHRISTMAS PRESENT FOR CASS SOLDIER

BEARDSTOWN — The real thrill of the season for soldier Chuck Vincent came after Christmas.

He came home from Germany, where he had served several months, with the information that he would be shipped out to Vietnam.

That was his prospect when he left St. Louis by plane for Fort Dix, New Jersey.

Upon his arrival at the Fort, he was told not only that he would not be sent overseas, but that he would be discharged six months in advance of the expiration of his time in September.

Those were the tidings he telephoned to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Vincent of Beardstown, where the New Year's holidays.

At Fort Dix, Vincent is only 40 miles from the home of his sister who lives in Philadelphia, and his stay at the Fort will give him some time to visit her. Chuck's brother "Red," also in service, is also due to be discharged soon.

Devaluation?
Why Worry?

By CARLTON SMITH
"I have brought my intellect fiercely to bear on all the news stories and editorials about the devaluation of the dollar," Snaveley told the Financial Wizard. "And I am frankly floundering. I don't know whether it's something I should be worried about or not. That worries me."

"As I understand it," said the Wizard, "you are worried because you don't know whether or not you should be worried. This is a condition of life in our society, and merely demonstrates that you are normal. Therefore, you have nothing to worry about. On the other hand, if you weren't worried about something, you would not be normal, and that would be cause for worry. Now, about the dollar."

"My dollars more precisely," said Snaveley. "Should I clean out my savings account and buy gold-mine stocks? Diamonds? French impressionist paintings? Or should I—"

"One moment," said the Wizard. "It is the word 'devaluation' that bothers you. Let us test your reaction to this." He drew a large dollar sign on a sheet of paper and held it up. "Do you feel worried about what you see on the paper?"

Snaveley pondered a moment. "No."

"Quite normal," said the Wizard. "Because that was not a dollar you were looking at, but a dollar sign. A symbol. Not the thing itself. Agreed?"

Snaveley nodded. "Very well. Now, the devaluation that you are worried about—or rather, uncertain whether you should worry about—is also only symbolic. The dollar was in fact devalued last August. Certain high-ranking officials denied, at the time, that devaluation had occurred, and this has created a certain amount of confusion."

"It is rather as if Uncle Harry had expired some time ago, and you buried him, but the doctor said that, although Uncle Harry should indeed be removed to the cemetery, he wasn't really dead. Now four months later, he tells you that Uncle Harry is breathing his last and you should start making plans for the funeral."

"You're suggesting the dollar is dead?" Snaveley asked in alarm.

"This depends on which dollar we are talking about," said the Wizard. "There was formerly a dollar which foreign debors could hope to have redeemed by the United States for one 33 1/3 of an ounce of gold. That dollar has been dead since last August, when Washington announced that gold parity had suddenly departed, some time during the night, without leaving a forwarding address."

E. St. Louis Livestock

NATIONAL STOCKYARDS, Ill. (AP) — Estimated receipts for Wednesday: 4,000 hogs, 600 cattle and 100 sheep.

Hog receipts: 2,500 head. Butchers 1.00 higher, sows 50-75 higher. Sharply curtailed receipts due to poor trading conditions. US 200-230 lb butchers 23.50-24.50. US 1-3 300-600 lb sows 18.50-19.25. Boars 17.00, under 350 lbs 16.50.

Cattle receipts: 500 head. Receipts mostly cows, scattered lots slaughter steers and heifers. Represented classes strong. Good and choice 900-1,050 lb slaughter steers 34.00-35.00, good 31.50-33.50. Package standard and good Holsteins 29.00. Choice 875 lbs US 2-3 slaughter heifers, few good and choice 32.00-33.00. Commercial cows 21.00-23.00, utility 21.00-24.00, cutter 19.00-22.00, few Holsteins 22.50, canner 17.00-19.00. Utility, commercial and good bulls 25.50-27.50, some 28.00. Good and choice vealer calves 39.00-42.00.

Sheep receipts: 200 head. Woolled slaughter lambs steady, short slaughter lambs 50 higher. Deck choice and prime 110 lb woolled slaughter lambs 27.00. Part deck choice and prime 95 lb short slaughter lambs with No 1-2 pelts 29.50.

"The dollar your wife exchanges at the grocery for potatoes or whatever—and the dollar you have in your savings account—is alive and more or less well. It is still worth, and will continue to be worth, whatever a dollar is worth in the American economy."

"As for our late friend, the gold-at-35-an-ounce dollar, who has been dead for some while, it is high time the poor fellow was buried. This dollar has been floating around in the limbo of international monetary waters, where it has been devalued some 8 1/2 percent through natural attrition."

"Now Washington has agreed to a formal devaluation, or funeral. The appropriate sentiment should not be pain or grief, but simple relief that we can at last erect a headstone reading, 'Here lies the 91-cent dollar'—or whatever the figure turns out to be."

Snaveley grasped the Wizard's hand and shook it warmly. "Really appreciate this," he said. "Not a bit worried now."

"Abnormal fellow," the Wizard muttered as he departed. "Oh, well—wait till he reads tomorrow's paper."

SOYBEAN, GRAIN

FUTURES ADVANCE

CHICAGO (AP) — Soybean futures advanced more than 2 cents a bushel on the Chicago Board of Trade today.

The strength in soybeans tended to influence buying of wheat, corn and oats, to a degree. Small gains also were maintained in soybean oil and meal as well as feed soybeans.

There appeared to be little outside news that might have influenced the buying in soybeans. Most trade sources thought the price turnaround could have been expected because of a decline of nearly 8 cents in the two previous sessions.

Soybeans opened around 1 1/2 cents higher and quickly moved up to a top of 2 1/2 cents above Tuesday's close. Soybean oil was weak on the opening but edged ahead some 10 points, while meal advanced 50 cents a ton.

The cold weather and snow generally influenced buying of grain futures because of the probable expanded usage for livestock feed. Corn and oats prices had been weak on the opening, then pushed ahead 1/2 cent.

Deferred wheat options were most attractive to buyers and prices pushed ahead 1 1/2 cents quickly after the opening. Short covering was noted among local professionals.

After about an hour, soybeans were 1/2 to 2 cents a bushel higher, January 3.06 1/4; wheat was 1/4 to 1 cent higher, March 1.62 1/2; corn was 1/4 higher, March 1.22 1/2; and oats were 3/4 to 1 cent higher, March 74 cents.

Paint Spruces Up A Basement

By MR. FIX
Basements tend to run to extremes. Either they are finished and paneled and good enough to live in, or they are left as they are. In the latter case they become drab, dirty and damp. Even if expensive and elaborate finishing is not for you, it is possible to make your basement into a bright, attractive and comfortable place to work and play. All you need is some paint and a little time to apply it. Once you have cleared the basement for cleaning and painting, you may find that what junk you don't throw out could be better stored on shelves.

Cleaning up is the first step toward getting organized.

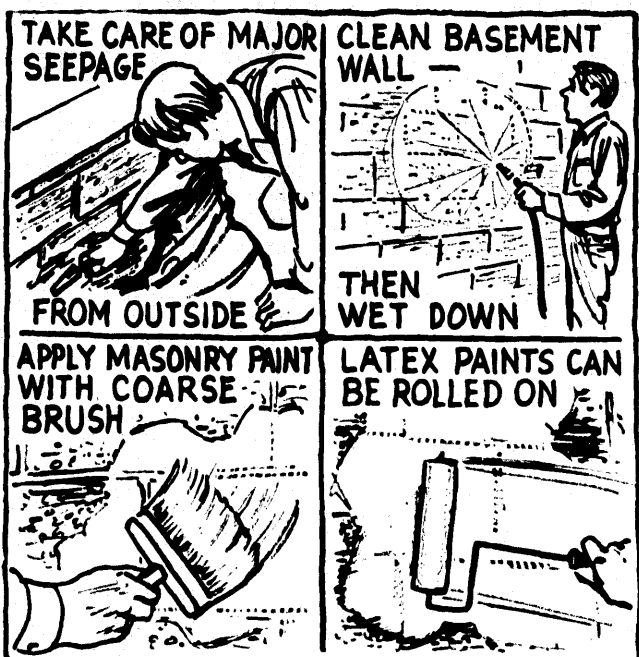

Paint will do more than improve the appearance. It will make a basement more dry. Slight moisture and seepage can be halted with heavy duty waterproofing. If you have major seepage, don't try to cure it from inside. Proper foundation waterproofing is done on the outside.

The only difference between painting a basement and any other room is to make certain that you are using a paint suitable for masonry surfaces. Most modern latex paints will work well on masonry but check the label to be certain.

Preparation consists in cleaning mainly. Major defects or even small cracks should be repaired before beginning. Vacuum all dust and dirt. A brush and clear water will take off quite a bit. Use a detergent if you find stubborn stains.

Present coatings that are peeling or flaking should be scraped off or the new paint will flake away with the old.

HOPPER & HAMM

Armstrong Floor Products

If the masonry is new, you have a powdery coating on it. This is known as efflorescence. You can coat the wall with special masonry conditioners to end the problem. You can remove it by scrubbing with one part of muriatic acid to five parts of water. Work with rubber gloves and don't splash any in your eyes. Rinse with water and a little ammonia to get rid of the acid.

If there is mildew, scrub with household bleach and water. You may have to do this several times, rinsing with clear water in between and allowing to dry each time.

Any paint you use must be alkali-proof. It also must be permeable so that some moisture can breathe through it without making it peel.

Aside from latex paints the likeliest thing to use is a Portland cement paint. This is dry and must be mixed with water. Check instructions carefully.

Such paints normally go on over unpainted masonry or over coatings of similar paint.

Mix in small amounts because once it is mixed it cannot be stored. Surfaces must be wet before painting.

The Portland cement paints are heavy and you will have to brush them on. Latex paints can be rolled on.

Neither of the mentioned paints is suitable for basement floors. Buy a floor paint which is a kind of paint especially made to withstand abrasion.

Happy Marriage Dos, Don'ts

You know it's a happy marriage if:
The word "ours" is more frequently used than "his" and "hers" or "yours" and "mine."
She waits for his telephone call from the office before going shopping.

He calls.
At the football game he takes the pickle off her hamburger before handing it to her.

She calls him up from the basement so he won't miss the game on TV.

She slips a little note into his coat pocket. And, he not only looks for it but smiles when he reads it.

He drops a little note into the clothes hamper once in awhile. And she smiles when she reads it.

She brings him a cup of coffee into the bathroom every morning.

He sent a thank-you card to his wife's mother on the wife's birthday.

He sends flowers sometimes not because it's an anniversary but just because it's Tuesday.

She didn't make him wait until Christmas for that golf club he wants in May.

They both know how much money is in the vacation fund.

They both know what book the other is currently reading.

He doesn't put off the children's requests by answering, "Ask your mother."

She doesn't threaten the children with, "Just wait until your father gets home!"

He doesn't refer to his staying with the children as "baby sitting."

Neither of them often say, "Why did you?"

Neither of them often say, "Why don't you?"

Neither of them ever say, "How could you!"

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans increased their borrowing on the installment plan by a record amount in November, another sign that consumer spending is accelerating the Federal Reserve Board said Tuesday.

The board reported that consumer installment credit outstanding in November surged by $1.266 billion, as the nation went from wage-price freeze to President Nixon's Phase 2 economic controls.

The last record increase in consumer debt on the installment plan was $999 million recorded last September. In October, installment credit advanced by $924 million.

The board said there were substantial increases in installment borrowing across the board, with automobile credit rising $500 million, personal loans increasing $410 million, loans for goods such as clothing, appliances and furniture climbing by $341 million and loans for home repair and modernization $15 million. Economists watch the Federal Reserve's consumer credit report as a signal of how consumers are behaving. The administration is counting on a big surge in consumer spending in 1972 to bolster the economic boom it has promised. The board said installment credit reached $107.097 billion in November on a seasonally adjusted basis. Also increasing at an accelerated pace in November was noninstallment credit, which includes such things as retail charge accounts, gasoline credit card accounts and service credit, as well as individual single-payment loans. Noninstallment credit showed a seasonally adjusted increase of $188 million to $26.166 billion. There was an $86 million increase in charge account credits. The board said total consumer credit increased a seasonally adjusted $1.454 billion to $133.263 billion. Consumer credit excludes real estate mortgages and insurance policy loans. The board said repayments of loans increased in November after dropping slightly in the two previous months.

Jacksonville Journal, Jacksonville, Ill., Jan. 6, 1972

by presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger.

An investigation was said to be under way also at the Pentagon, whose minutes of three December meetings of the Security Council's Washington Special Action Group (WSAG) were published by Anderson in syndicated columns starting last month. Diplomatic sources said an internal inquiry last month found no leak from the State Department.

Defense and State Department spokesmen replied with a blanket "no comment" to a barrage of questions from newsmen.

The administration's public silence Wednesday extended both to whether security probes were in process, and to ramifications from the documents themselves.

Unlike the Pentagon Papers, which dealt with government decisions on Vietnam made some years ago, the Anderson documents deal with inside administration handling of a current issue.

Anderson said the secret documents show an apparent conflict between the Nixon administration's public statements early in the two-week India-Pakistan war and the positions its strategists were taking behind the scenes.

He said Kissinger told newsmen Dec. 7 that it "is totally inaccurate" to portray the administration as anti-India.

One of the passages from the documents quotes Kissinger as saying at one of the White House strategy meetings:

"I am getting hell every half-hour from the President that we are not being tough enough on India. He wants to tilt in favor of Pakistan."

On Wednesday Anderson released the texts of what he said are three secret government

"Y" Challenges Non-Swimming Adult Women

Randall (Randy) G. Weber, associate executive director at Sherwood Eddy YMCA, challenges all adult women who do not know how to swim and are not presently members of the local Y to enroll in the adult women's swim class with the understanding a free series will be given if the individual does not learn how to swim in the five-week program.

The class started Tuesday of this week and the second session this week is Thursday morning. There is still time to make good on this offer by enrolling at the Y, calling in person at the lobby desk Thursday morning before starting time, 9 a.m. The class is 9 to 10 a.m. and held each Tuesday and Thursday for a five-week period.

The cost to non-Y members is $10 for this series. There is no charge for YMCA members.

Vietnam

er than before the five-day air campaign against North Vietnam last week. The raids hit at four MIG bases in the south of North Vietnam, but most of the MIG force is based around Hanoi, the capital farther north.

The U.S. Command reported 108 "protective reaction" strikes last week, 25 of them in December. That does not include more than 1,000 strikes flown during the five-day campaign. These were labeled "limited duration protective reaction" strikes.

Washington officials have said U.S. planes hit 35 to 40 targets but missed some others during the five days. Reliable sources in Saigon said, however, that bad weather was still holding up a damage assessment.

In other air action, field reports said U.S. helicopter gunships and strike planes destroyed four cars and four trucks, touching off many secondary explosions, in raids Wednesday 10 miles northeast of Khek in eastern Cambodia.

In an effort to cut down on losses on medical evacuation helicopters, the U.S. Army is painting most of them white with red crosses and has ordered defensive machine guns removed by Friday.

Millions of leaflets have been dropped on enemy territory, declaring that these aircraft aid friend and foe alike and asking the enemy not to shoot at them. Officials are waiting until March to assess whether the program works.

About 1,000 South Vietnamese rangers wound up a 26-day operation in southern Cambodia, 60 miles southwest of Phnom Penh, the capital. They claimed killing 54 enemy soldiers and capturing six, plus two dozen weapons and eight tons of rice. South Vietnamese losses were put at four killed, five wounded.

The operation was around Highway 16 north of Tuk Mesa and about 25 miles from the South Vietnamese border.

In Kontum Province, a potential trouble spot bordering Laos in South Vietnam's central highlands, government forces reported destroying 200 enemy houses and seizing 100 rocket grenade rounds. A 20-round enemy mortar barrage in the vicinity caused no casualties the Saigon command said.

A big North Vietnamese buildup has been reported in the central highlands-border area, and many sources have predicted an offensive there this winter.

The U.S. Command announced the stand-down of one aviation company and an electronics installation squadron, totaling about 530 men.

EXPECTANT COUPLE CLASSES TO START THURSDAY, JAN. 13

The Morgan County Health Department is sponsoring a series of expectant couples discussion group classes to begin Thursday, Jan. 13. The classes, to be held from 7:30 to 9 p.m., will meet at the health department. There will be eight to ten weekly sessions, depending on the needs and demands of the group.

Discussion will center around the concerns and interests of the group, including prenatal care, care of the newborn and their first year of life, and post-natal care of the mother and family adjustments.

Many individuals have found these groups especially helpful with their first child.

Expectant couples are urged to call or write, Morgan County Health Department, 234 1/2 West State St., Jacksonville, phone 245-5111 for pre-registration.

Sutton Bows Out Of Illinois GOP Senate Primary

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Wayne Attorney S. Thomas Sutton withdrew Wednesday from the Illinois Republican senatorial primary election, leaving Sen. Charles H. Percy unopposed for renomination.

Sutton quit the race at a state electoral board meeting, saying his supporters lacked funds to fight legal objections to his nominating petitions from Republican State Committeeman Don Adams and Springfield businessman L.L. Chapin.

Attorney Richard Grummon, who filed the objections, said the move was taken "to prevent the kind of nominating petition controversy you have going on now in Chicago."

Grummon said he estimated that 825 of Sutton's 5,000 signatures were invalid and that 300 were "not genuine."

Republican sources said, however, that party leaders were concerned about the image projected by Sutton, one-time head of the ultra-rightist Legion of Justice.

The husky, shaven-headed Sutton spotted Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie as he arrived at the meeting, grasped the governor's hand warmly and said, "Hi, Dick." Ogilvie replied with a cool "Hello" and for the rest of the proceeding referred to "Mr. Sutton."

After the meeting, Sutton told newsmen he believed that "the only vote I'd get would be the anti-Percy vote, and I suppose they don't want an anti vote."

In other action, the board decided a hearing to three Chicago blacks who had announced plans to challenge Mayor Richard J. Daley's Democratic organization by turning Republican and seeking various offices.

Former Alderman A.A. "Sammy" Rayner and civil rights leader Al Sampson were seeking nomination to posts in the legislature, and the Rev. T.T. Vivian was organizing a bid to unseat U.S. Rep. Ralph Metcalfe.

Their petitions arrived in Springfield after the deadline for filing had expired and, thus, were invalid, the board ruled. All three wrote letters seeking a special hearing.

The program will be given by Mrs. Ed Gant. The members plan to tack quilts during the day.

McCarthy Wins Fight To Enter State Primary

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Eugene J. McCarthy won his fight Wednesday to enter the Illinois presidential primary without signing a non-Communist loyalty oath which he called "clearly unconstitutional."

The State Electoral Board ruled unanimously that the refusal of the former Minnesota senator to sign the pledge was not grounds to keep his name off the Democratic ballot opposite that of Maine Sen. Edmund S. Muskie.

McCarthy argued in a letter to Illinois Secretary of State John W. Lewis that the 1950-era oath was not only unconstitutional but "defective and inapplicable to the presidential primary."

Lewis told the seven-member board it would be "beside the point to go into the various reasons Mr. McCarthy has stated."

"The oath does not apply to a presidential primary," he said. A Lewis aide said after the meeting that copies of the oath had been sent to presidential contenders as "a matter of custom."

The pledges were signed by Muskie and Sen. George S. McGovern of South Dakota, who was considering an Illinois primary bid.

In the oath, candidates disavow membership in the Communist Party or groups intent on violent overthrow of the government.

Lewis, a Republican from downstate Marshall, said that "one may agree or disagree on Mr. McCarthy's reasons, with the exception of one of his sentences — that it is inapplicable. 'But I think the best place to answer that is on the political trail,' Lewis said.

The board is composed of five constitutional officers plus the Democratic and Republican state chairmen.

Muskie and McGovern supporters are known to be organizing slates of convention delegates in downstate and suburban congressional districts and McCarthy backers say they plan to run similar slates against uncommitted groups loyal to Mayor Richard J. Daley in Chicago.

BEARDSTOWN — Funeral services for Beardstown native, Mrs. Bertha Auferman Thompson, 81, of Bartonville who died Saturday afternoon at Peoria Methodist hospital, were held Tuesday afternoon at the Davison Funeral Home in Peoria with burial in that city.

She was born in Beardstown July 3, 1890, and her parents operated a truck farm at the outskirts of the city on property later owned by the late Dr. H. W. Welch.

Survivors include her husband, Elmer, also a Beardstown native; a son, Robert of Bartonville; a daughter, Mrs. Val Geskey of Peoria; three grandchildren; and two great grandchildren.

Also surviving are a brother-in-law and two sisters-in-law, Earl Thompson and Mrs. Marie Wessel of Beardstown and Mrs. Bernice Quigley of Pontiac.

IEA Sues To Freeze Funds Of Board Group

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—The Illinois Education Association filed a suit Wednesday in Sangamon County Circuit Court asking for a freeze of all Illinois Association School Boards funds and activities.

The IEA wants the funds and activities frozen until the school board organization complies with a section of the Illinois School Code enabling them to collect funds for organizational purposes.

The suit comes as a taxpayers action on behalf of four plaintiffs headed by Dr. Curtis E. Platt, executive secretary of the IEA.

The suit charges the school board association with more than two decades of noncompliance with sections 23-9 of the Illinois School Code.

The suit asks for a restraining order against such activities involving the expenditure of tax funds on attorneys for negotiations, lobbyists and press releases until the court rules on the appropriateness of present board programs.

According to Platt, the intent of the school code is to establish an organization destined to improve education through providing a forum for discussion of innovation and techniques.

BANK ROBBER GETS 12 YEARS

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Donald E. Connor, 39, of Hoopes, was sentenced in U.S. District Court Wednesday to a 12-year prison term for his conviction on a bank robbery charge Oct. 20.

Connor was convicted of the July 21 holdup of a bank in Industry.

He appeared Wednesday before federal judge Omer Poos.

THREE COLLISIONS HERE WEDNESDAY

City policemen investigated three traffic collisions Wednesday.

George D. Phillips, 16, of 851 N. Church St., told officers about noon Wednesday that his car was damaged by a hit and run driver while parked behind the Jacksonville High School vocational building. Phillips said he parked the auto at 8:30 a.m. Wednesday and discovered damage to the front end upon returning.

Cars driven by James H. Campbell, 69, of R.R. 2 Franklin, and Donald G. McDaniel, 24, of 544 Brooklyn Ave., collided at the corner of Hardin Ave. and Routh St. about 3:50 p.m. Officers were told the McDaniel auto was stopped when it was hit in the rear by the southbound Campbell vehicle.

A car driven by Andrew J. Daugherty, 59, of 141 E. Independence Ave., was hit in the rear by an auto operated by Don C. Woods, 19, of 663 S. West St., about 10 a.m. The Daugherty auto was stopped in the westbound lane of West College Ave. when the collision occurred.

CARS COLLIDE ON BRIDGE

Two cars collided on the bridge at Mauvaisterre Creek on the Old State Road about 9:30 a.m. Wednesday causing moderate damage to both vehicles.

Cars driven by Estell Jackson of 658 South Kocisuto and James Ogden, a student at Illinois College, approached the bridge at the same time from opposite directions and side-swiped on the narrow and snow-slickened bridge.

State police said both cars were towed from the scene but that neither driver sustained injuries.

JERSEY CO. ASKS REVIEW OF STATE TAX MULTIPLIER

JERSEYVILLE — Jersey county is appealing for a review of the state multiplier received for the 1971 tax year, and the matter was brought before the Board of Supervisors at its meeting Monday. The multiplier as set is 1.5152 and the assessed value of property for the year is $83,454,000. Members of the Tax Commission which includes Floyd Irsinghausen, Ralph Downey and Urban Sinclair are of the opinion that the multiplier is excessive.

Whitaker Slover, supervisor of assessments, stated that it has been about eight years since the county was assigned a multiplier over 1.00, which was last year's figure.

Beer Bandits Hit Beardstown New Year's Eve

BEARDSTOWN — Four cases of beer were stolen from the Rink Distributing company plant here in a break-in reported to Beardstown police Friday night.

Harry Jones of Virginia was arrested here at 2:15 a.m. Sunday on charges of illegal transportation of liquor.

Jones was able to post bond and was released until time of arraignment, but Robert Griffin, also of Virginia, arrested on the same charge, could not furnish bond immediately and was held in jail.

Sheldon McNeely of Rushville was arrested here on charges of driving while under the influence of liquor; and Larry Crook, also of Rushville, was charged with speeding and illegal transportation of liquor.

A Griggsville man was fined $150 and costs on charges of driving while under the influence of alcohol by Judge Fred Reither. Virgil Kerr was arraigned in Virginia Circuit Court Monday and a second charge against him as the result of an auto accident at Coffin Corner near here was dismissed.

Today's hand might well be taken from a beginner's course on bridge. The bidding is simple and straight forward.

With 13 high-card points North has a sound but minimum-type diamond opening. With 12 high-card points and five hearts, South has a normal good heart response. North is delighted with hearts, but contents himself with a single raise because he does not want to be in game unless his partner has real values and not the six- or seven-point minimum he might have bid with one heart.

The raise to two hearts is South's cup of tea, and he jumps to the heart game.

West opens the jack of clubs. South wins and knocks out the ace of trumps. Later on he draws trumps and loses tricks to the other two aces. Of course, if East and West forget to take the ace of spades, South winds up with an overtrick.

Experts would bid the hand exactly the same way, but we saw it mangled by a couple of players. The bidding started out nicely, but after North's raise to two hearts South decided to try a bid of three diamonds. He played this as a force and we suppose he had some idea that maybe there would be a slam in the combined hands.

North jumped to four hearts South passed, but now West decided to try an unusual defense. He opened the ace another diamond. Then he grabbed his ace of trumps and led a third diamond for his partner to ruff.

The defense would be unusual without that extra bid. As was South had dug his own grave.

THE DOCTOR SAYS Regional Enteritis Difficult To Treat

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.
Dear Dr. Lamb—After many X rays and tests, I was told I had regional enteritis. The doctors scared me out of my wits — absolutely gave me no hope — other than prescribing cortisone for pain (which I refused).

I can't find too much written about enteritis. I was told parts of my small intestine just shrank away. Why? From what? Can I do anything to stretch the intestinal parts that shrank? Is there a cure?

Please define and explain enteritis, also treatment if any. I am only 48 years old and a mother of two children.

Dear Reader—This is a nasty little disease. Perhaps it will help give you some encouragement to know that President Eisenhower also had regional enteritis, or Crohn's disease. He had an operation for a complication of this disease while he was president and after his first heart attack. The operation was done at Walter Reed and well publicized. Afterward he was elected to and served a second term and lived to age 78, finally dying from heart disease—not regional enteritis.

The disease really is an inflammation (itis) of a region

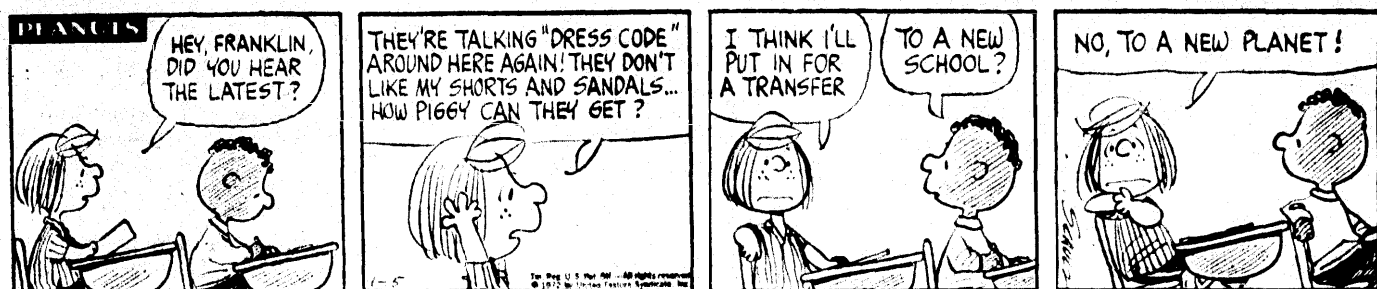

(regional) of the intestines (enteritis), hence regional enteritis. The inflammation causes a granularlike swelling that can obstruct the intestine.

The usual location is at the junction of the small intestine and the colon, in the lower right side or in the same area as the appendix. Other areas can be involved. The disturbances it causes are similar to appendicitis, typically right lower abdominal pain. There may even be a slight elevation of body temperature and usually an increase in the number of white blood cells, as seen in infections or appendicitis. Gaseous distention and even intestinal obstruction can occur. There are a number of complications that are sometimes seen with the disease.

Most people lose their appetite and may lose weight. Diarrhea may also be a symptom. The disease may occur in attacks, with intervals of relative freedom from pain in between.

The cause of the disease is not known and there is no satisfactory treatment. Cortisone does help to eliminate the inflammation sometimes, but it also can cause complications. A high protein diet with sufficient calories to prevent undue

'Ike' Dollar
Is In Circulation

Production figures for January through September, 1971, show a total of 51 million cupronickel Eisenhower dollars were minted. To Nov. 10, 12 million had been shipped to Federal Reserve Banks. There should be no need for customer "rationing."

This may be an appropriate time to examine the thoughts of the man responsible for the finished design. Frank Gasparro, chief engraver with the U.S. Mint at Philadelphia.

I posed this question to Gasparro. Here is his reply.

Dear Mort:

Thanks for your kind interest in the Eisenhower dollar. My experiences relative to the dollar coin are many and pleasantly memorable.

When I hold this coin in my hand, my thoughts flash back to the time I first saw Gen. Eisenhower in the 1945 victory parade. I began collecting photographs of the general and later executed and exhibited his portrait bust. Incidentally, I still collect his photographs and today my collection numbers close to 100.

When the day came and I was called upon to create the Eisenhower dollar design, it was as though I had been in training for a great event. I was familiar with the subject and by November, 1969, wax models of the obverse portrait and reverse eagle were completed.

You know what happened next. Congress seemed reluctant to pass the bill causing an extensive delay. But the red-letter day finally came when President Nixon signed the authorization. During the period between congressional approval and Mr. Nixon's O.K., my staff worked endlessly to bring up a suitable pair of dies to start production.

The second red-letter day came when Mamie Eisenhower saw the coin. She liked it very much and gave her immediate consent. From there on the story is pretty much the same as producing any other coin.

In all, I feel very fortunate to have had the opportunity to design this particular coin and enjoyed every pleasant experience connected with its conclusion. However, none of this would have been possible if the Mint family, working as a team, had not pushed to bring the Eisenhower dollar to a reality.

With kindest personal regards,

Frank Gasparro

Chief Engraver

Gasparro's 29-year tenure with the U.S. mint earned him the position of chief engraver upon the retirement of Gilroy Roberts.

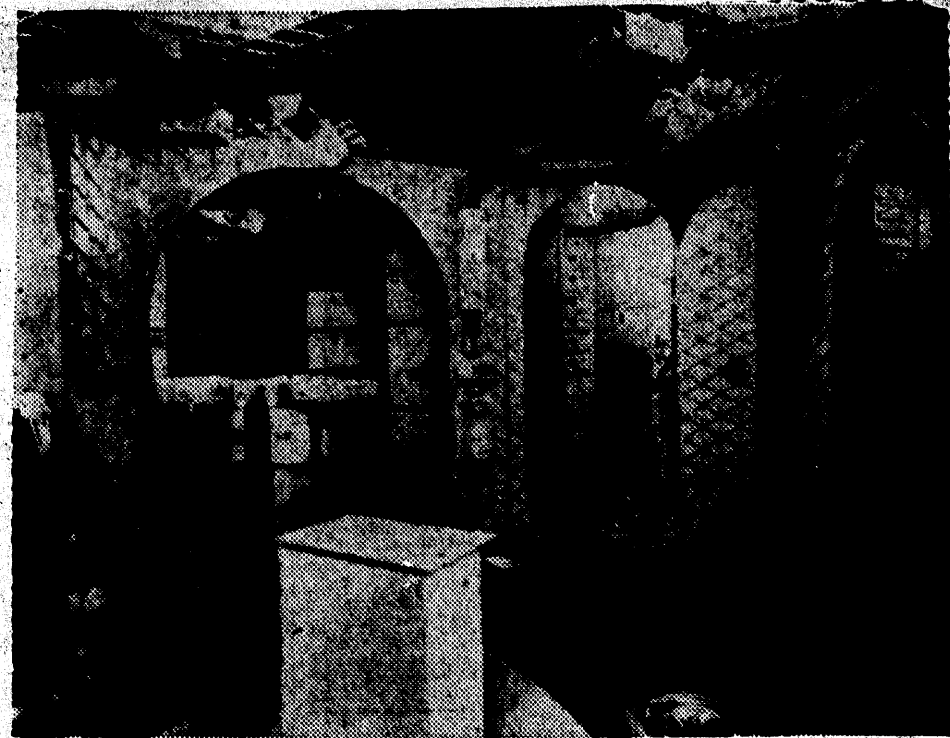

Frank and Julia Gasparro live at 216 Westwood Park Dr., Havertown, Pa., and I am sure they would welcome any comments on the newest of our one-dollar coins.

Illinois State U. Put On Probation

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP) — Illinois State University was placed on probation for one year Wednesday by the National Collegiate Athletic Association for violating NCAA provisions concerning financial aid, eligibility, recruiting and practice time.

However, the NCAA Council, which imposed the penalty, did not place any sanctions on the Normal, Ill., school. This means that Illinois State's entire athletic program is subject to review by the NCAA but there is no ban on post season competition.

The Council cited the following violations:

—Through the arrangements of Will Robinson, Illinois State's basketball coach, the team was transported some 55 miles from the site of its own game to be the guests of a professional team at a pro game.

—The school's grant-in-aid form contained requirements for maintenance which permitted it to cancel or graduate financial aid for "an athletic reason," such as contribution to a team's success, participation, etc.

—During 1970-1, an unidentified Illinois State freshman was permitted to play basketball and receive financial aid while failing to meet the NCAA's 1.6 grade requirement.

—Robinson, in the spring of 1970, watched a prospective student-athlete work out on campus.

—On Sept. 9, 1970, Robinson provided cost-free transportation for a prospective student-athlete to travel from Ionia, Mich., where he had just been released from jail, to Detroit.

—During April and May 1970, Robinson conducted several out-of-season meetings involving members of the basketball team.

The NCAA Council noted that Illinois State no longer uses the improper grant-in-aid form and said the tryout of the prospective student-athlete was inadvertent rather than "a willful attempt to circumvent NCAA legislation."

The NCAA added that the president of Illinois State has "initiated a thorough investigation through the institution's athletic administration" and has cooperated with the NCAA and its Committee on Infractions.

Prep Spotlight

Rocky Ballard

Mike Roy

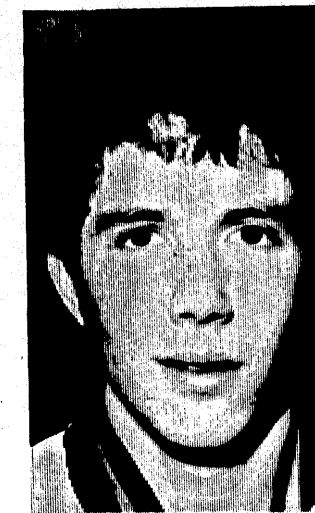

Jack Schadel

Bob Boesdorfer

George Ross

Stan Hoover

Today's Prep Spotlight honors players from Ashland, Pleasant Plains and Northwestern high schools.

Rocky Ballard and Mike Roy have both played key roles in the fast start by once-beaten Ashland. Ballard, a 6-0, 169-pound non-lettermen junior, has been a big surprise for the Panthers while averaging right at twin figures on the season with two games of 16 points. Roy, a 5-9, 139-pound senior letterman, has had some big games for Ashland, 14 twice, both in close games.

Jack Schadel and Bob Boesdorfer have been key performers for the Pleasant Plains squad that packs a 9-4 record. Schadel, a 5-11 senior letterman is a strong rebounder and is scoring at a rate just over ten points per game. Schadel has been in double figures nine times in 13 games with 17 against Girard in the Waverly Tournament his best. Boesdorfer, the club's leading scorer last season, is a 5-11 senior who packs a 17 points per game rate as one of the area's top scorers. Boesdorfer has a one-game best of 28 against Tri-City, with 27 coming against Chandlerville. Boesdorfer has been at 20 or over in six outings.

Although Northwestern has won just one game to date, George Ross and Stan Hoover have proven to be prolific scorers for the Wildcats. Ross, a 6-1, 185-pound senior, currently packs a lofty 20.3 per game rate, with double figures in all nine games to date and a personal best of 25, twice. Hoover, a 6-0, 174-pound senior, is second with a 14.6 norm, hitting double figures in eight of nine outings and a best of 21 against Edinburg.

Ram's Robertson Defensive Rookie

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — back.

Isiah Robertson was such a good college football player it hurt him when he first stepped up into the pros.

But Robertson, a 6-foot-3, 225-pound linebacker for the Los Angeles Rams, quickly shed the habits developed as a "do-everything" defender for Southern University and emerged Wednesday as The Associated Press' Defensive Rookie of the Year in the National Football League.

"It took me all through the exhibition season to learn they pay you to take care of your job and after you take care of your job, then you will be able to help other people," said Robertson.

"The mistake that was giving me my biggest problem at first was my pursuit," he said, explaining that at Southern he was depended upon to make virtually every tackle. "I had to get to the ball. That was my job for four years.

"It's just like anything else in life," he continued. "Once you get accustomed to doing something, it becomes a pattern. I was getting hurt by reverses, counters and counter reverses."

However, Robertson said he never got discouraged through those first, trying weeks "because I knew what I had to do all the while."

The Rams' No. 1 draft choice, Robertson played behind veteran John Perine for the Rams' first two regular season games. But when Perine was injured, Robertson stepped up and never looked back.

"I learned a lot and I know what I have to be ready for next year," said Robertson.

He said he likes his position, his coaches and his team and is shooting for a Super Bowl berth for the Rams next season.

Robertson said Coach Tommy Prothro "really stuck by me" and linebacker coach Tom Catlin "deserves at least 80 percent of the credit for whatever I accomplished."

"When the going got tough he (Catlin) really spent extra time with me on the field and off the field, with my playbook and with my films," said Robertson.

"He taught me a lot of tricks," said Robertson. "When I made an interception or forced a fumble... everyone of them were little things he taught me in practice."

"Just little things sometimes, like my stance. On my pass defense, he showed me how I was just drifting back and taught me I had to run back to my position."

Robertson received 37 of the 60 votes by a nationwide panel of sports writers and sports broadcasters.

Line backer Phil Villapiano of the Oakland Raiders was his closest challenger with seven votes, followed by defensive backs Tom Hayes of Atlanta with five and Clarence Scott of Cleveland with four, defensive back Jack Tatum of Oakland and defensive tackle Julius Adams of New England with three each and defensive back Jack Ham of Pittsburgh with one.

Serious Questions Before NCAA Meet

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP) — The National Collegiate Athletic Association opens its 68th annual convention Thursday faced with the problem of whether to call an unprecedented special session before July 1 to try to solve the financial crises of many of its members.

The major proposals to be voted on, however, during what promises to be a lengthy business session that winds up the convention Saturday, concern the significant tightening of recruiting restrictions.

But more and more support continues to arise for consideration of legislative reorganization of the NCAA itself into separate divisions for large and small schools.

The NCAA's College Committee added its backing Wednesday to an earlier recommendation by the powerful NCAA Council that reorganization be considered at any special convention before the controversial proposals to put financial aid to athletes on a need basis and to limit the number of athletic scholarships.

Stanley J. Marshall of South Dakota State University, chairman of the College Committee, said Wednesday's decision to support legislative reorganization marked a switch by the members of his group.

Reorganization plans have previously been proposed by such football coaches as Darrell Royal of Texas, Bob Devaney of Nebraska, Paul "Bear" Bryant of Alabama, John McKay of Southern California and Frank Broyles of Arkansas.

And the University of Texas Regents said last month that schools that don't compete in football should have no say in making rules for national powerhouses. The regents went on record opposing the NCAA financial aid recommendations.

The aid restrictions were recommended by a special committee and backed in principle by the NCAA Council, the major policy-making body.

Adoption of the recruiting restrictions would:

—Limit to five the number of institutions to which a prospective student-athlete might travel on paid visits.

—Prohibit more than one paid visit to any institution by a prospect, whether the institution provides the transportation or it is provided by a representative of its athletic interests.

—Permit paid visits only after the opening day of classes of a prospect's senior year.

—Permit entertainment of any prospect and his parents on the institution's campus only.

—Limit the number of off-campus visits an institution's staff members and representatives of athletic interests may make to any prospect.

—Prohibit transportation of friends or relatives of a prospective student-athlete by any representative of an institution's athletic interests.

—Prohibit employment in a summer camp for which institutional facilities are used or in which a university employee participates of any prospect who has finished his sophomore year in high school.

Carrollton Top-Ranked For Tourney

WINCHESTER — Undeclared Carrollton and host Winchester have been seeded one-two for the upcoming 50th Annual Winchester Invitational Tournament.

Following Carrollton (11-0) and Winchester in the ratings are newcomer Beardstown, which replaces defending champion Rushville; North Greene, Griggsville, Brown County, Calhoun and East Pike.

The tournament opens Jan. 17 with Carrollton facing Griggsville at 5:30, Beardstown taking on Calhoun at 7:00 and Winchester going against Brown County at 8:30.

The following day North Greene meets East Pike at 7:00, the losers of the first two games meet at 7:00 and the winners of the first two contests tangle at 8:30. Two games will be held the last three evenings.

Clemente Gets Series Award

NEW YORK (AP) — Roberto Clemente, who climaxed a brilliant season by batting .414 to lead the Pittsburgh Pirates to victory in the 1971 World Series, was named Wednesday winner of the Babe Ruth Award as the outstanding Series player.

The 37-year-old outfielder will receive the award Jan. 30 from the New York chapter of the Baseball Writers Association of America.

Clemente, winner of four National League batting titles, finished fourth last season with a .341 average, then had 12 hits, two of them home runs, and four RBI in the seven-game series against the Baltimore Orioles.

14 Area Cagers Top 20 Per Game

The current high school basketball season continues to be an outstanding one for individual scoring efforts by local and area prep cagers.

No less than 14 preps in the area are currently averaging over the magic 20 points per game clip, three more than at the last counting period two weeks ago.

Porta's Casey Duncheon continues to lead the area in scoring with a 24.0 per game rate, including his third 35-point outburst of the season against Kincaid Tuesday.

Right behind Duncheon are Mike Williams of Bluffs and Wayne Ingram of Brown County at 23.4, both inactive since the last scoring averages.

Rounding out the top ten are Ray Taylor of Southwestern at 21.7, Havana's Bob Stinauer 21.4, Roger Busen of Brown County 21.1, Danny Bess of East Pike 21.0, Carrollton's 6-7 Dave Hobson 20.9, Ashland's Doug Elliott 20.5 and Franklin's Bill Clevenger 20.5.

Following in the charmed circle are Brad McCulloch of Griggsville, Northwestern's George Ross, Calhoun's Phil Devening (who pumped in 38 in losing case Tuesday) and Virginia's Mike Johnson.

The top 35 local and area high school basketball scorers through games of Tuesday are:

PIASA BIRDS NOT OVER OPTIMISTIC

When a team loses its top two pointmakers from a 24-3 season and still feels it can improve on that sparkling slate, an observer's first thought might suspect some rose-colored glasses.

Piasa Southwestern did just that this season and has yet to regret or doubt the validity of the high hopes. If anything, the picture is brighter than ever. It couldn't be any better as a matter of fact, as the Piasa Birds have reeled off 11 straight victories and rate as one of only two area unbeaten to date.

Such lofty roundball heights for the Macoupin County school of 60 enrollment is relatively new at Piasa. The school consolidated in 1956 and managed only two winning finals until last year's breakthrough that also included the South Central Conference crown. The 24 victories broke the school mark by eight games.

COACH RICHARD WELL, in his fourth year at the post, made no bones about equalling or bettering last year's mark in this season's pre-campaign information despite the graduation losses of Duane Orban (Illinois College) and Dave Hartman (Lewis and Clark Junior College in Alton), his top two scorers last season.

Well based his feelings on three returning full-time starters, one late-season regular and four other returning lettermen. Included in that crew was a goodly share of size and quickness, both important ingredients in Piasa's style of ball.

Well, who picked up his 50th win at Piasa Tuesday evening, calls his team's zone, "A full-court press, dropping back into a 1-3-1 style, a fast-breaking offense with 65-70 shots per game and a strong defense despite the running game."

ALTHOUGH FAR from being a one-man show, the Birds have been sparked considerably this season by the all-around play of 6-4, 180-pound senior center Ray Taylor, who packs a 21.7 scoring average. Taylor also leads the club in rebounding, free throw and field goal (60%) shooting and is second in assists. "Ray is a definite college prospect," says Well. "He is agile and real quick and handles the ball real well. He will make a good cornerman in college, although he will have to adjust from playing the pivot with his

President's Call Didn't Irk Landry

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Writer
NEW YORK (UPI)—Tom Landry took the big news in stride.

He didn't even blink. If a guy like Duane Thomas can't shake him up, what chance has anyone else? Even if that someone else is the president of the United States.

Tom Landry, the coach of the Dallas Cowboys and possibly the coolest coach in the world, got the big news Tuesday afternoon.

He was told that President Nixon has been giving suggestions over the telephone to Don Shula, the coach of the Miami Dolphins who have a Super Bowl date with his Cowboys in New Orleans Jan. 16 for the professional football championship of the world.

Shula, at a Monday Miami news conference, revealed Nixon had called him at home 1:30 that morning. Said Shula:

"The President alerted me that the Cowboys are a real good football team, but he told me, I still think you can hit Warfield on that down-and-in pattern against them."

Tom Landry feels Paul Warfield is an excellent wide receiver but he's not so sure how good the President's advice to Don Shula will be.

Landry never has gotten a call from Richard Nixon but he understands why the President might get himself that involved first with the Washington Redskins and now with the Miami Dolphins.

"The President is like anybody else," said the Cowboys' straightforward coach. "He's gonna have his team, and since he lives in both areas (Key Biscayne, Fla., and Washington), it's natural that he should take an interest in them."

Then Landry doesn't feel neglected about not getting a call or over the obviously greater presidential interest in the Dolphins?

"No," Tom Landry laughed, "I don't."

What about the people of Dallas though? How do they feel about the President lining himself up with the Dolphins?

"They say the President is not going to start campaigning until next summer," Landry said, keeping the whole thing in a light vein. "It's a good thing. If he did right now he might lose some votes in Dallas."

What about Tom Landry's vote? Has he ever said whom he voted for in the last election?

"No, I never have," he said. "Would he care to say so now?"

"I voted for President Nixon," Landry said. "Is he sorry now he did?"

"Not at all."

Before the Dolphins won the American Football Conference title, Richard Nixon was an ardent follower of the Redskins. He even visited one of their practice sessions and last week in Washington, Bill Brundige, a Redskins defensive lineman, revealed the President had called Washington Coach George Allen before the 24-20 setback at the hands of San Francisco two weeks ago.

Nixon had an idea, Brundige said. The President suggested the Redskins run a flanker reverse with Roy Jefferson against the Forty Niners. The Redskins tried it.

"That makes me feel better," Landry laughed when it was called to his attention.

The Cowboys had a day off Tuesday in Dallas where there was snow and ice on the ground and the mercury went down to 24 degrees.

It was a miserable day but you'd never know it by Tom Landry. He felt perfectly fine even if he did discover the No. 1 man in the White House was helping out the opposition.

"You don't feel neglected?" someone asked the tall, lean coach of the Cowboys.

"Not in the least," he said. Then Tom Landry remembered last Sunday's 14-3 win over the Forty Niners in Irving, Texas, and he couldn't help but smile.

"There's no reason for me to feel neglected at all," he said. "We had Lyndon B. Johnson in our dressing room and we were talking to him."

Celtics, Knicks Dominate NBA's West All-Stars

NEW YORK (AP)—The Boston Celtics, with three players, and New York Knicks, with two, dominate the National Basketball Association's East team which will battle the West in the 22nd All-Star game Jan. 18 in Los Angeles.

John Havlicek, a seven-time all-star forward with the Celtics, and 6-foot-9 center Dave Cowens, a teammate in his second NBA season, will be starting for the East squad, announced Wednesday.

Boston's JoJo White, a guard, was selected as a reserve. The Knicks' representatives chosen in the balloting among sports writers and broadcasters from the 17 NBA cities are starting guard Walt Frazier, in his third consecutive All-Star game, and reserve forward Dave DeBusschere.

Completing the starting East squad are Philadelphia's Billy Cunningham at forward and Atlanta's Lou Hudson in the backcourt, each making his fourth consecutive appearance. Center Wes Unseld of Baltimore was also named to the reserve team.

The remaining six spots on the East team will be filled by the eight NBA East coaches with at least one player coming from as yet unrepresented teams—Cleveland, Buffalo and Cincinnati.

The East will be facing a West Squad which has won only seven of the 21 classics—but which won last year's game after three successive setbacks.

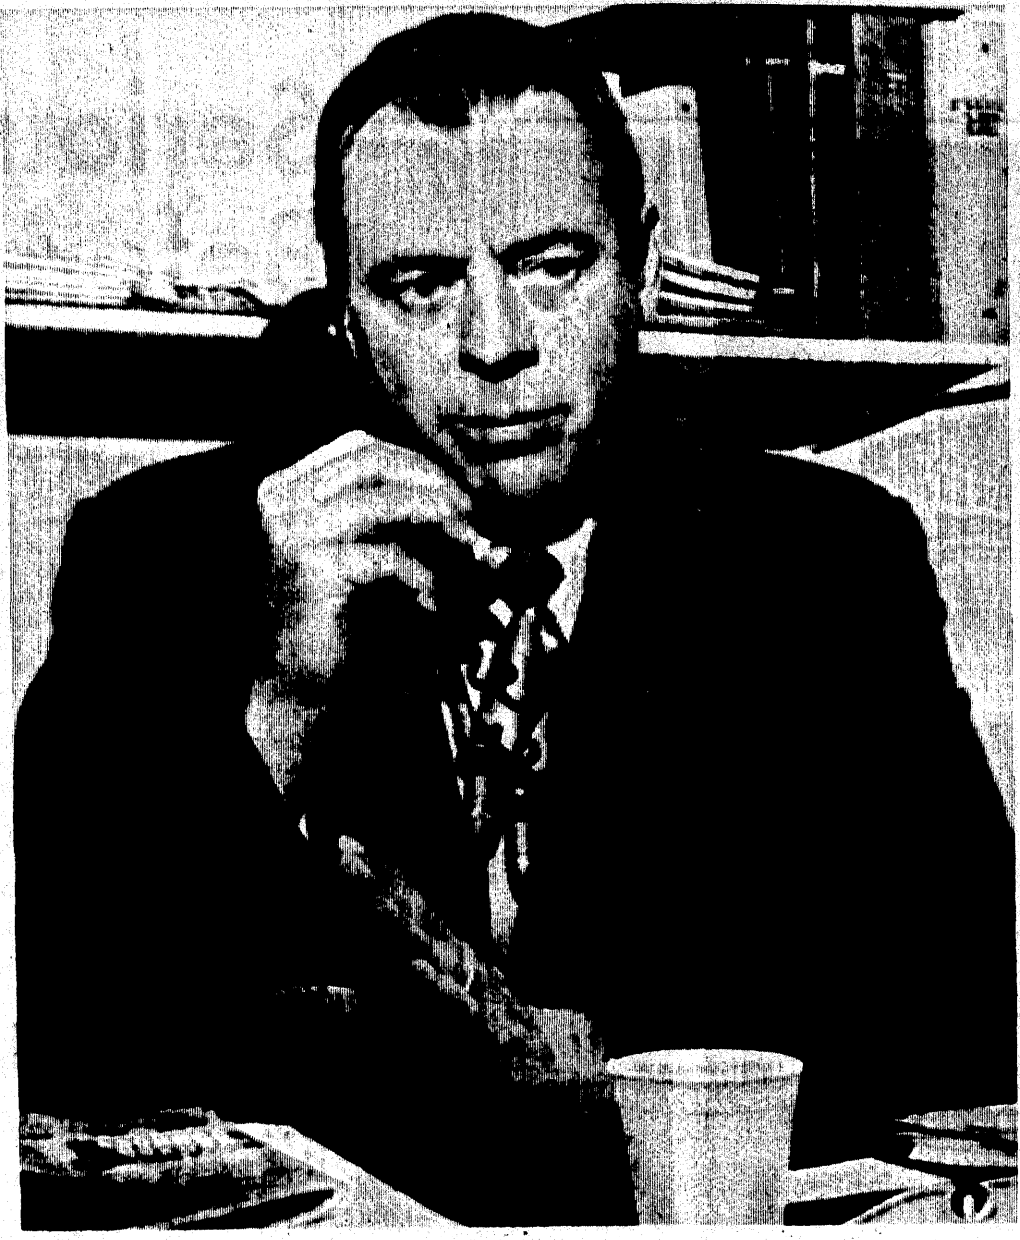

The West team announced earlier this week, will be led by Kareem Abdul-Jabbar of Milwaukee at center, forwards Spencer Haywood of Seattle and Bob Love of Chicago and the Los Angeles backcourt tandem of Gail Goodrich and Jerry West. The reserves voted to the West are Golden State forward Cazzie Russell, Lakers' center Wilt Chamberlain and Bucks guard Oscar Robertson.

FAVORITES ESCAPE IN ASHLAND FIELD

ASHLAND — Favored Tremont and Mt. Auburn notched narrow victories Wednesday evening in the 44th Annual Ashland Invitational Tournament.

Second-ranked Tremont nipped Tri-City 76-68, with third-seeded Mt. Auburn edging Morrisonville 64-63.

Action continues this evening with top-regarded Ashland taking on Green Valley at 6:30 in a winner's bracket tilt, and Tri-City going against Morrisonville in a losers bracket contest at 8:00.

Stanford's Ralston Takes Denver Post

DENVER (AP)—John Ralston, who transformed Stanford University from a chronic football loser into the victor of two straight Rose Bowl games, was chosen Wednesday to try to make a winner of the Denver Broncos.

Ralston was named head-coach of the National Football League team, which in eleven years has never had a winning season. He signed a five-year contract with the Broncos at an undisclosed salary.

"We were just so tremendously impressed with the results John has gotten in a situation where things are tough," said Gerald H. Phipps, chairman of the board of Empire Sports.

"He was able to achieve success with a lack of quality material to match his rivals. With the high quality of material that we have, we believe he can accomplish great things."

Ralston, 44, succeeds Lou Saban, who resigned as head coach and general manager and later was named to the same positions with the Buffalo Bills.

Phipps said Ralston would have complete charge of the football operation, but said Ralston himself would decide later whether to become general manager. If he decides against it, the Broncos "expect to make adjustments within our own organization" to cover the duties, Phipps said.

Ralston had been on a year-to-year basis at Stanford, and the university agreed to release him immediately from the current contract, which expires next month.

The Palo Alto Times said it was believed Ralston's salary with the Broncos would be between $35,000 and $50,000 a year.

Ralston had a 55-36-3 record in nine years at Stanford, climaxed by the dramatic 13-12 upset of previously undefeated Michigan in this year's Rose Bowl. His only losing year at Stanford was his first. Before that, he compiled a 31-11-1 mark in four seasons at Utah State.

"This is an entirely different kind of challenge," Ralston said at Palo Alto. "There will be no more recruiting and much more time for the technical side of football. The prospects for this new life are really exciting."

Phipps said the Broncos were impressed with the fact that Ralston succeeded although Stanford had perhaps the highest scholastic standards and the fewest scholarships in the Pacific 8 Conference.

Pro Golf Tour Hits Los Angeles Stop

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Arnold Palmer and Lee Trevino, pro golf's two greatest gate attractions, are certain to hold center stage in the Glen Campbell-Los Angeles Open, but Billy Casper, a quiet figure in the wings, may be the man to watch in the first event on the 1972 tour.

The $125,000 tournament, which the 40-year-old Casper has dominated in recent years, begins a 72-hole run Thursday on the 6,827-yard, par 71 Rancho Park course with a very strong field on hand.

It's the kickoff event on the richest—and one of the longest—tours in history. Almost $7.5 million in prize money is up for grabs in 45 major tournaments on a schedule that stretches into mid-December.

Most of the game's great players are in the 144-man field gunning for a $25,000 first prize in this 46th annual tournament, but off recent history Casper has to be the favorite.

In the last four Los Angeles tournaments Casper has won twice, lost in a playoff and missed first place by a single shot.

His start is something in the nature of a comeback. Beset by a variety of problems, including the recurrence of some allergy ailments, Casper had an off year last season. He won over $100,000 and took the title in one late-season event—a banner year for most performers but something off the pace for the man who has won 45 tournaments and more than $1 million in prize money.

Palmer and Trevino are his chief challengers. Each is coming off a four-week layoff.

The 42-year-old Palmer, who took four titles and enjoyed his first $200,000 season last year, said he had been busy with business matters most of the time during his break.

"I didn't play any until just last week," the game's all-time leading money winner said. "Just trying to get it together, get some things sorted out."

But Trevino has been hard at it, getting ready for the new season.

"I played every day for the last 15 days," said the 1971 Player-of-the-Year who made that fantastic sweep of the American, Canadian and British Opens. "I've been beating balls every day, running some every day. I feel good."

Also on hand are such $100,000 winners from last year as Miller Barber, Dave Eichelberger, Jerry Heard, Australian Bruce Crampton and George Archer. Other standouts include defending champion Bob Lunn, England's Tony Jacklin, veteran Gene Littler and Ryder Cup star J.C. Snead.

Among the missing are Jack Nicklaus, who last year set a single season money winning record of $244,000; South African Gary Player, Masters champion Charles Coody and $100,000 winner Frank Beard. Nicklaus traditionally doesn't start his season until the Bing Crosby National Pro-Am and Player hasn't yet started his American tour.

The final two rounds Saturday and Sunday will be telecast nationally by CBS-TV.

Pro Golf Tour Hits Los Angeles Stop

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Arnold Palmer and Lee Trevino, pro golf's two greatest gate attractions, are certain to hold center stage in the Glen Campbell-Los Angeles Open, but Billy Casper, a quiet figure in the wings, may be the man to watch in the first event on the 1972 tour.

The $125,000 tournament, which the 40-year-old Casper has dominated in recent years, begins a 72-hole run Thursday on the 6,827-yard, par 71 Rancho Park course with a very strong field on hand.

It's the kickoff event on the richest—and one of the longest—tours in history. Almost $7.5 million in prize money is up for grabs in 45 major tournaments on a schedule that stretches into mid-December.

Most of the game's great players are in the 144-man field gunning for a $25,000 first prize in this 46th annual tournament, but off recent history Casper has to be the favorite.

In the last four Los Angeles tournaments Casper has won twice, lost in a playoff and missed first place by a single shot.

His start is something in the nature of a comeback. Beset by a variety of problems, including the recurrence of some allergy ailments, Casper had an off year last season. He won over $100,000 and took the title in one late-season event—a banner year for most performers but something off the pace for the man who has won 45 tournaments and more than $1 million in prize money.

Redskins' Allen AP Coach Of Year

NEW YORK (AP)—George Allen, who insisted "the future is now," then proved it by bringing the Washington Redskins their best record in 26 years, was named Wednesday The Associated Press Coach of the Year in the National Football League.

The 49-year-old first-year coach for the 'Skins, who moved to the nation's capital after being fired by the Los Angeles Rams, then wheeled and dealt Washington to a 9-4-1 record and into the playoffs, amassed 33 of the 60 votes cast by a nationwide panel of sports writers and coaches.

Dallas Wary Of Warfield In Planning

DALLAS (AP)—The Dallas Cowboys went to work on Wednesday evening mindful of President Nixon's advice to Miami Coach Don Shula to try the slant-in pass to wide receiver Paul Warfield.

"President Nixon is quite a football fan," said Landry, admitting that he voted for him in the last election. "We're going to do everything we can to try to stop Warfield."

Landry has assigned cornerback Mel Renfro to Warfield, who Landry said "caught a few on us" when the speedster played for Cleveland.

"Warfield is an excellent receiver and we're well aware of what he can do," Landry said. "Cowboy assistant Ernie Allen added, 'Warfield can turn a six-yard pass into a 30-yard pass in a hurry.'"

Warfield may draw double coverage from the Cowboys, who were burned by him several times when he played for the Browns.

The Cowboys worked for the first time since their 14-3 National Conference victory over San Francisco Sunday. A beam of sun melted away ice from a winter storm that struck Dallas Monday night.

Dallas plans to fly to New Orleans Sunday evening.

Running back Calvin Hill, who injured a knee, and offensive tackle Rayfield Wright, who has a toe injury, were expected to take it easy until heavy work begins next week in New Orleans.

Landry said he looked for the game to be controlled by the defense.

"If there is a lot of scoring we're in bad shape," he said. "It has to be a tight game because you win playoff games with defense."

native of Detroit, took over at Washington just a year ago, a week after being dumped by Los Angeles, where he had built a loser into a winner, helped virtually double Rams' attendance and given them a five-year 49-17-4 record.

He came to a club which, since its championship season of 1945, had managed just four winning seasons and, under Bill Austin, had been 6-8 in 1970.

The coach who had built a reputation for handing out draft choices in exchange for proven talent lived up to it.

He started immediately, acquiring quarterback Billy Kilmer—ostensibly as a back-up man behind Sonny Jurgensen—from New Orleans for two draft picks and a linebacker.

Then came the coup—a massive deal with his old team. To the 'Skins came what turned writers and sports broadcasters.

Don Shula, who masterminded the Miami Dolphins into the Super Bowl, and Ed Khayat, who took over at Philadelphia early in the season and whipped the hapless Eagles into a winning squad, tied for second with eight votes apiece.

John Mazur of New England, who guided the Patriots to a 6-8 record, their best since 1966, in his first full year as head coach, received three votes.

Bud Grant of Minnesota and Tommy Prothro of Los Angeles got two apiece and Don McCafferty of Baltimore, Tom Landry of Dallas, J.D. Roberts

Eau Claire Tops College Ladder, Ky. State 2nd

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Eau Claire, unbeaten in 10 games, moved into the No. 1 spot in The Associated Press college division basketball poll Wednesday, replacing Kentucky State which dropped to second place.

The Wisconsin team, which had been ranked No. 2, gained the top berth by virtue of a 101-81 rout of Kentucky State in Eau Claire's holiday tournament last week.

Eau Claire, received 13 first-place votes and 370 points from a panel of sports writers and broadcasters. Kentucky State, 4-1, drew four first-place votes and 298 points.

A pair of unbeaten, Tennessee State and Louisiana Tech, were ranked third and fourth. Tennessee State added two victories last week to move up two notches from fifth, while Louisiana Tech, despite two No. 1 votes and a 9-0 record, slipped from third to fourth.

Evansville dropped one notch to No. 5 after winning its own tournament, only to lose a regular New Year's Day game to Utah State 90-89 for a 6-3 season record. Assumption also moved down one place, to No. 10, after an 83-74 loss to Brown in the semifinals of the Hall of Fame Holiday Classic.

Trailing Evansville, which received the only other first-place ballot cast, is No. 6 Cheyney State, winner of the PNC Colleges Invitational, won two spots from last week; No. 7 Akron which dropped one rung even though idle last week; No. 8 Stephen F. Austin, up from 10th with a victory in the Granite City Classic, and No. 9 Eastern Illinois down from seventh after taking the week off.

The Top Ten teams in The Associated Press college division basketball poll with number of first place votes in parentheses and total points based on 20 for first, 18 for second, 16-14-12-10-9-8-etc.:
1. Eau Claire (13) 370
2. Kentucky St. (4) 288
3. Tennessee St. 258
4. Louisiana Tech (2) 228
5. Evansville (1) 214
6. Cheyney State 170
7. Akron 162
8. S.F. Austin 157
9. Eastern Illinois 127
10. Assumption 102

CARDS SIGN MALONEY
ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Jim Maloney, a 31-year-old right-hander who pitched three no-hitters and was twice a 20-game winner in eight seasons with the Cincinnati Reds, has been signed to a 1972 contract by the St. Louis Cardinals.

Maloney was signed on Monday by the Cardinals, one day after being given his release by the California Angels, with whom he was 0-3 last year.

He has received many awards for his work in the field of Athletic training and is considered to be one of the top members of his profession.

out to be the nucleus of their "Over-the-Hill Gang" defensive unit, linebackers Maxie Baughman, Myron Pottios and Jack Pardee and defensive tackle Diron Talbert, plus two other players and a fifth-round draft choice.

To the Rams went picks—seven of them.

Then, after still more trades, came the exhibition season—and apparent disaster as Jurgensen fractured his shoulder, seemingly wrecking Washington's dreams.

But suddenly, there was Kilmer, the far-from-illustrious quarterback, piloting the 'Skins to five successive victories at the start of regular-season play while a once-porous defense backed him with tenacity.

After a brief midseason slump, Washington woke up again, battled the Dallas Cowboys down to the wire for the National Conference East title, then settled for second place and the NFC's "wild card" playoff berth. A 24-20 loss to San Francisco eliminated the 'Skins in the first round.

Buildings, Too, Must Die, But What Of Old Residents?

By JOHN BARBOUR
AP Newsfeatures Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Christmas is over but the decorations linger on. On Manhattan Island the elevators still play all the old familiar carols. The bright lights and happy windows vie for Macy's, Gimbels, Saks, Korvettes, all the old familiar places.

At any decent apartment, the doorman, the superintendent, the maintenance men are counting the holiday take, those tithes given by residents for small favors extended through the year.

But not at 127 W. 67th Street, marked for demolition. The heavy antique doors without locks. The mailboxes with more names than residents. The buzzers that no longer work, no need to. The hall that smells of urine, dark and cold.

Here, a tired old lady, her blue eyes rimmed with red, says only, "Christmas? We have no money for Christmas." And she won't give her name for fear some mysterious landlord will move her out.

The sign on the five-story, dirty, heat-less, cold-water, brown-bricked, sad building says simply, "Another site being vacated by Urban Relocation Co." Beneath is another, newer sign which says, "Not A Government Agency." That afterthought was the result of a legislative fiat, lest someone think the company or the motive was attributable to a government agency. The city has condemned much of the rest of the block without benefit of signs.

So cities change. Not just New York, but Chicago, Detroit, Los Angeles, old neighborhoods fade and new ones emerge. It is an accepted fact. Old buildings must die that new buildings may be born. Dig we must for a growing city. And old people who still live in the old buildings? Well...

She stands timidly in her doorway. Behind her a cot, a gas stove, a refrigerator, a shelf of small ceramic animals, a vase of artificial flowers. Neat, but somehow untidy with necessities. On the window sill are neatly folded blankets, and on the cot.

Two burners and the oven act as a space heater. A small black cat perches on the open oven door to keep warm. The old lady in her old robe asks that you keep quiet. Her son is asleep in the next room and he works late driving a New York taxi. She has lived here for 35 of her 85 years. Until a stroke four years ago she worked as a dressmaker. Now she collects something under $100 a month in Social Security. It pays the rent which she says is only $32.42 a month.

Most of the people have left this block, a squalid square of low buildings between Broadway and Amsterdam Avenues, 67th and 68th Streets. The gaunt houses like some stricken blind creature, wear sheet metal shields on most of the windows. A few have a hollow, mascara look from some forgotten fire.

All around the block the city is rising up again, from its own dust and ashes. New white buildings, what New Yorkers laughingly call middle income housing, with a tiny studio apartment running over $200 a month. All of this spurred by the inspirational Lincoln Center, a block away, a vast complex of auditoria and halls, fountains and soaring glass passageways which someone once said shows what man can do for man when he wants to be nice.

The old lady on the ground floor remembers when her block used to be nice too. That was when it had been reclaimed from an earlier impoverishment after the turn of the century when it was called San Juan Hill because of its Spanish-speaking population.

Ashland Pastor And Wife Tour Holy Lands

ASHLAND — Rev. and Mrs. Dean R. Entekin returned home here Thursday. They traveled Dec. 21 to New York City for the evening international flight to Tel-Aviv, Israel and a week's tour of the Holy Lands. They were in Bethlehem on Christmas Eve, and they also visited Athens and Corinth.

Mrs. Neta Turner returned to her home here Wednesday afternoon from a visit in Albuquerque, New Mexico, at the home of her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Weeks.

Mrs. Ruth Bryant and Mrs. Leta Hammack, who have been visiting in Northglenn, Colo., at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon L. Brown and daughter, and also in Colorado Springs at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Evans, returned home Wednesday night.

A meeting of the Ashland booster board was held recently at the home of Robert Pschirrer. The following accepted positions as officers and members of the board of control:

John Gutmann, president; Allen Petefish, vice-president; Alice Reiser, secretary; Edna Monroe, treasurer; Prudy Ballard, publicity; John Devlin, Bob Pschirrer, Jim Klein, Harry Higginson and Joan Stribling. Membership dues for the booster club are now due. If you have not been contacted and want to belong, please contact any of the above people.

The club sponsored a bus to the Waverly tournament and will sponsor a bus to all away junior high games for students wishing to attend.

The booster club in cooperation with the school will serve sandwiches to the visiting teams at the Ashland tournament.

A family dinner was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Isenhower on Christmas day. Mrs. Isenhower also celebrated her 85th birthday with the following guests present for the happy occasion: Glenn Isenhower of St. Louis, Mo.; Mr. and Mrs. Ray Isenhower, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Isenhower and family; and Mr. and Mrs. Keith Bottens and son, Ashland.

1 W. SIDE SQUARE

JACKSONVILLE

PH. 245-7819

When she moved 35 years ago it was "very clean, all working people, all white ones. ... There was a janitor for the building and the halls were clean and the doors locked."

She had come from France as the governess for a wealthy American family. Then she married the chauffeur and they began a family of their own. Their first home in New York had seven rooms and rented for $65 a month. But the city declared the roof unsafe and the women who owned the building could not raise the money to repair it. So she found this apartment. "It was only going to be temporary."

For her, it was a place for her family to be all together. That is one of the reasons she doesn't want to move now. "We have like a root here, you see, a racine."

"Everybody was happy," she recalls of the old days. "All the families go to the park. Everybody in the sheep meadow. Today all you see is baseball." When her great-grandchildren come to visit now she makes them apple doughnuts and apple pie on the small four-burner stove, and for a while there are children's voices in the halls again. But outside the skyscrapers cut off all but slices of sunlight from the building. She remembers her childhood in Chambéry, France. "We could see Mt. Blanc all day long." Now the horizon is shrinking. The block she lives on has become a canyon walled in by buildings.

There have been recent dreams for the block, so close to Lincoln Center. Real estate entrepreneur and art patron Roger Stevens wanted to build legitimate playhouses there, but those plans died.

Its potential beckoned to others. Sherman Cohen, a realtor, owned much of the block for a time. "I bought it to build an apartment house. I held on to the property two years and I had most of the tenants moved out. Then the city condemned it. To me it has been a pain in the ass ... I'll make a little money on it, but not enough."

His stake in the block dissolved, he asks, "What possible interest can there be? A bunch of crappy old buildings. What possible interest. ... ?"

The city, perched on the horns of several housing dilemmas, has some distant plans to build a parking garage on its property here, with a home for the elderly rising above it.

The cat on the oven door doesn't budge when the pot on the range boils over. The old lady ignores it too. "It's very miserable here. I run gas day and night. We have three rooms but the front is too cold to use."

Upstairs another son lives, and above him an old Greek couple. The woman is not well. "I go up sometimes to help them in the evening," says the lady on the ground floor. "Their apartment is nicer." In the summer the woman who is not well can be seen at her window, catching the warmth of the sun before it slips below the big apartment houses around her. Her face is very thin and she wears a white kerchief.

Most people in the house refuse to answer their doors to strangers. The lady on the ground floor explains she has been robbed twice and people sleep in the hallway near her door.

The realtor who represents her building says he has offered all five tenants a sizable sum of money to move, but they have refused. The lady on the ground floor says she cannot afford any other place.

"I am not on welfare. I never was. But the city is full of lazy people these times. It is no more New York like it was."

She came to the city in 1912, 59 years ago, plenty of time for a neighborhood to be born and to die.

A block away, the IRT subway discharges the stream of secretaries, lawyers, clerks and businessmen hurrying home-ward to the younger apartments, the lobbies decked with holly, the doormen especially helpful this time of year. The old lady with the red-rimmed eyes closes her door on all of it.

Diet Watchers Can Enjoy This Dessert

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor
We've concocted a really delicious dessert for people who are interested in lowering calories and are on a watch-the-cholesterol regime.
The dessert is a custard made with egg whites. As you know, custards are usually made with whole eggs and that means adding calories and cholesterol high egg yolks. To add delightful flavor, our yolkless custard is served with calorie-reduced apricots—a choice fruit packed in a light low-sugar syrup. Enjoy!

SNOW WHITE CUSTARD WITH APRICOTS
4 egg whites
1/4 cup sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
1 1/2 cups milk
1 can (16 ounces) calories-reduced apricot halves
Turn egg whites into a medium mixing bowl; with a fork beat just until well-mixed and slightly foamy. Add sugar, salt, vanilla and nutmeg; beat gently just enough to blend. Stir in milk. If mixture is very foamy, let stand until foam subsides. Pour into four custard cups (3 or 6 ounce size).
Pour 3/4 cups hot tap water into an 8-inch square cake pan. Place custard cups in pan of hot water. (Water will come up about 1/4 inches on sides of cups.)
Bake in a preheated 325-degree oven until a knife inserted halfway between outer rim and center of custard comes out clean—50 to 60 minutes.
Remove pan from oven and lift custard cups from water. Cool custards on a wire rack. Cover and refrigerate until serving time.
To serve, with a small metal spatula loosen edges around each custard and turn into individual serving dishes. Spoon 4 apricot halves around each custard.
Makes 4 servings.

LOS ANGELES—Indiana Senator Vance Hartke makes a point during a press conference here Tuesday in which he charged that President Nixon is using American prisoners of war as "hostages" to further his own political career. Hartke, who announced his candidacy for the Democratic Presidential nomination Monday, expressed optimism that he would win the New Hampshire Democratic Presidential primary next March. (UPI Photo)

Black Physician Helps Treat Narcotics Addicts

By KAY MOORE
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — "If not me, then who?" Dr. C. Milton Young III asked himself one day in the late 1960s.

And from that question has grown a government-assisted program in which Young, a dedicated black physician, is treating hundreds of drug addicts with methadone, the controversial but legally sanctioned heroin substitute.

A specialist in internal medicine and rheumatoid ailments, Young began having guilt pangs several years ago when a growing number of patients would come to him and beg for help in solving their drug problem.

"I got tired of saying, 'there's nothing I can do,'" he said in an interview. "I started asking myself, 'if not me, then who?'" Last August Young saw the fulfillment of a dream when Louisville and a surrounding seven-county area were given a $1.4 million federal grant for comprehensive drug treatment—the largest handout under President Nixon's new anti-drug campaign.

But for a long time, Young had no help. Overwhelmed by the heroin problem in Louisville where he estimates there are 2,500 addicts, Young in the beginning used his office as a counseling center for patients in trouble with drugs. Through a cooperating pharmacist, he arranged to have his addicts put on a methadone schedule. Most of the expense for treatment and drugs he took care of himself.

As word leaked out, addicts from other cities around the state and bordering states began coming to Young's door. Consequently, he recalled, the 41-year-old physician "walked a fine line" with the authorities for many months.

"I was writing prescriptions for great amounts of methadone," he said. "There are certain calculated risks that anyone takes when they deal with something like that. I was hoping that the authorities were going on the intent rather than the letter of the law."

"The only way I kept out of trouble was to sell my program to the community on the basis that it was beneficial. For example, the little old lady getting off the bus has a right to be sure she'll get home okay without some addict desperate for money stealing her purse."

After months of plugging and using volunteers to help him, Young got his program adopted by the Region 8 Mental Health Mental Retardation Board, which was instrumental in obtaining the federal funds.

Although he now is in charge of all drug treatment programs which the region administers, methadone treatment—his maturing brain-child—takes most of his time.

Methadone, developed by the Germans in World War II as a painkiller, is a cheap synthetic form of morphine, usually administered orally once a day dissolved in orange juice.

Dr. Vincent P. Dole of Rockefeller University and his wife, Dr. Marie Nyswander, were among the first to adopt the drug for clinical use to satisfy the addict's "heroin hunger" without producing a euphoric "high."

Because the federal grant is so new, Young's long-range plans for the methadone treatment program are still in the early stages. Eventually, he hopes to have numerous centers for out-patient treatment; several halfway houses where drug patients can room and board while returning to a productive place in society, and "therapeutic communities" where former addicts live full time while readjusting to a normal life.

The addict who comes to the present treatment center, situated in a temporary facility near the downtown area, must go through a three-day waiting period during which he is screened, talks to counselors and social workers and undergoes medical tests to determine if he can be helped with methadone.

Young says the rules must be strict because "there are a lot of phonies" wanting methadone.

Once the addict has been screened, he can go to one of ten pharmacies in the Louisville area designated as methadone dispenser and is given the drug substitute dissolved in a cup of orange juice. The addict must drink the orange juice before leaving the drugstore, to prevent "methadone pushing."

Pharmacist Fred Phillips, who has dispensed methadone from his store since the early days of Young's program, said he has found his work with addicts "rewarding" although mixing orange juice-methadone "malts" for the nearly 50 addicts he treats takes up much of his day. Many of Phillips' regular customers know he treats heroin addicts but he doesn't think that factor has hurt his business.

"I've never had any reason to fear for my business," he said. "I would trust some of these people (addicts) with my life."

One 25-year-old addict, who gets his prescribed orange juice and methadone daily over Phillips' counter, said the drink tastes "rather bitter—like crushed aspirin."

The man, an addict for nine years and a recently discharged army veteran, said he can tell "the streets are a lot better" just in the brief time that methadone treatment has been underway in Louisville.

Program founder Young believes that after the program is in full swing here, crime in the Louisville area will be reduced 30 to 40 per cent.

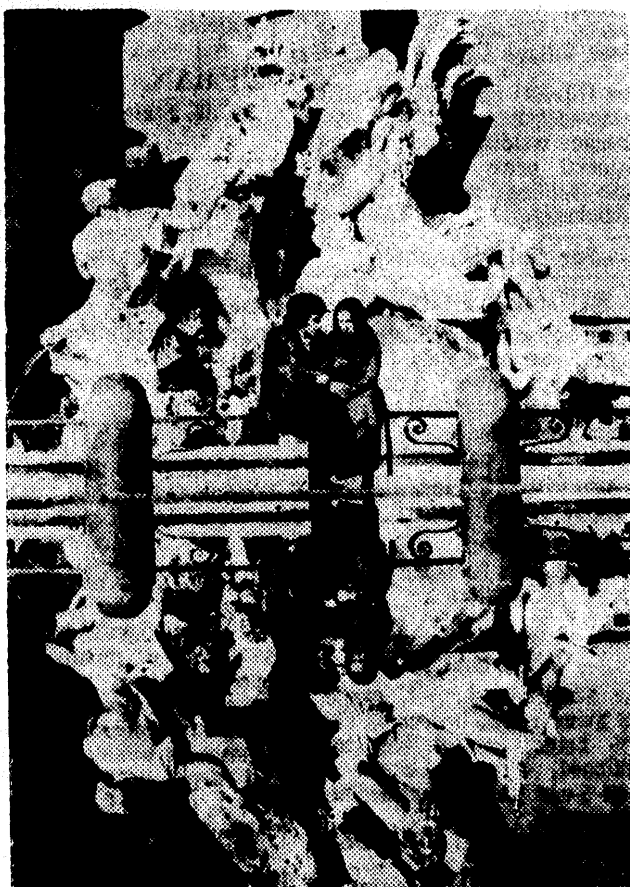

With the average heroin addict requiring at least $50 a day to maintain his "habit," Young estimates that it costs the community about $48 million a year to provide addicts with the drug.

"If 75 addicts are successfully on methadone, that's 75 former burglars and thieves that police don't have to worry too much about," Young said.

Young, named Louisville's 1971 "Man of the Year" by radio-television station WHAS, acknowledged there are still strong critics of the methadone-for-heroin program.

"Some people say (of methadone), 'you're just swapping one addiction for another,'" he said. "And it's true. You're just as addicted to methadone as you are to heroin. But everything about heroin is illegal. Methadone is prescribed, you take it in a pharmacy with a pharmacist present."

"It's not a miracle drug. It's an old drug used in a new way with relatively few ill effects."

ALONE TOGETHER, two young lovers in Rome share afternoon wintry sun with their reflections at Bernini's Fountain of the Four Rivers in the Piazza Navona.

Apollo 16 Crew Will Carry Cosmic Ray Detectors To Moon

Science Today
By AL ROSSITER JR.

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) —

Apollo 16's astronauts will carry a special array of cosmic ray detectors to the moon in March to find out more about the mysterious particles that can streak through men and their spacecraft.

Cosmic rays are atomic particles that travel through space at nearly the speed of light. Some come from the sun but the most powerful cosmic rays come from all directions outside the solar system.

When they pass through plastic and other materials, they leave a trail of damage less than a millionth of an inch wide. Such tracks have been found in plastic helmets worn by Apollo astronauts. Cosmic rays passing through space pilots' eyes are believed to be responsible for the light flashes seen by Astronauts with their eyes closed.

Scientists say such cosmic ray penetration is of no concern to astronauts spending only a few days in space. But there has been research to indicate that men flying on two-year missions to planets without adequate shielding might suffer a potentially harmful amount of body cell damage from cosmic rays.

Earth's magnetic field and atmosphere protects its inhabitants from cosmic radiation. A four foot long cosmic ray detector consisting of four hinged panels has been attached to the outside of the Apollo 16 moon lander. Apollo 16 Astronauts John W. Young, Thomas K. Mattingly and Charles M. Duke are scheduled for launch to the moon March 17 and they will spend 12 days in space.

The panels are made up mostly of thin sheets of the kind of high impact strength plastic used in spacesuits helmets. Other types of plastic also are used and there are several glass samples.

As a cosmic ray passes through the plastic, it will leave a distinctive track which will be enlarged for laboratory study after the astronauts bring the foiled detector back to Earth. The shape of each track should reveal the kind of particle that made it.

The cosmic ray detector was built by the General Electric Co., and was designed by GE scientists and researchers from the University of California at Berkeley and Washington University, St. Louis, Mo.

House-Senate Group Shapes Ethics Bill

By H. JOSEF HEBERT
Associated Press Writer

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — A House-Senate conference committee hammered into shape Wednesday an ethics bill which calls for strong income disclosure, but omits the controversial measure preventing legislators from holding two government jobs.

The new draft of bill, proposed by House Speaker W. Robert Blair, R-Park Forest, should be ready for committee action by early next week, Sen. Cecil Partee, D-Chicago, said.

The proposed bill would require a wide range of income disclosures on the part of officials in local and state governments and in the judiciary.

Its provisions require in part the disclosure of:

—The name of professional organizations in which the official is an officer or a partner and earning through the organization more than $1,000.

—The name, position and instrument of ownership of any business in Illinois in which ownership is more than $10,000 or from which income is more than $1,000.

—The source of capital gain from a single source where more than $5,000 is realized by the official.

Projector Fund Nets $398.00

At Scott Center

By Mrs. James Cox
(Winchester Correspondent)

(Telephone 742-3817)

WINCHESTER — The residents at the Scott County Nursing Center enjoyed Christmas day at the center with many families gathered for dinner.

A gift exchange was held in the afternoon with Santa Claus present to hand out the gifts.

The center expressed appreciation for donated Christmas goodies to both residents and staff.

The Fred Linker family donated two cakes in memory of Mr. Linker's birthday; Grace Baptist church, fruit and goodies.

Mrs. John Vose, candy; Ward Heskett, pecans; Marshall Chevrolet, candy; Mrs. Louise Hieronymus, gifts and goodies; Zoe McCarty's family, candy; and John Welsh's daughter, cookies.

Other donations are: Mrs. Cannon, lap blanket; Mrs. Dee Bell, subscription to Guidepost; Mrs. W. C. Waller and Carol, Mrs. A. E. Runion and Mrs. Noel Bright, bingo prizes.

The projector fund now has a grand total of $398.90. A projector and screen will be purchased in the near future. Thanks to everyone for all their donations; personal, 4-H candy sellers and the afghan donations.

Saddle Club To Meet

The South Scott Saddle Club has scheduled a meeting for Thursday, January 6, at 7:30 p.m. at the Odd Fellows Hall.

Each family is asked to bring cookies.

WSSC Meets Thursday

The United Methodist church WSSC is scheduled to meet Thursday, Jan. 6 beginning at 2 p.m. at Sibert Hall.

Presenting the program will be Mrs. Edward Baird. In charge of refreshments are Miss Freida Balke, Mrs. Carrie Townsend, Mrs. Frank Thomas, Mrs. Edward Baird and Mrs. Paul Markille.

Returns From Trip

Mrs. Charles Shipley returned Wednesday from a seven week trip to southern California where she visited Mr. and Mrs. William Thraup in Beaumont. She also visited friends and relatives in Los Angeles, Montclair, Sunnyside, Palm Springs, Indio and Idyllwild.

Mrs. Ed Busher of Idyllwild returned with Mrs. Shipley for a few days visit here before going to Cleveland, Ohio.

Enroute home, they spent a few days in Phoenix, Arizona area. Mrs. Busher spent Christmas with her daughter in Tempe and Mrs. Shipley spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Jones and Mrs. Edith Jones, also in Tempe.

On Christmas Eve Mrs. Edith Jones and Mrs. Shipley visited with Mrs. Fred Neat and Mrs. Mettie Coultas in Chandler.

Corbett Denies Profiting From State Land Deal

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) —

Rep. Jerry Corbett, D-Hardin, denied Wednesday that he received any monetary profits from a land deal between his family's real estate firm and the Illinois Conservation Department.

Corbett made his denial in an affidavit filed before the Legislature's Ethics Board which is seeking to determine if Corbett, a freshman legislator, violated the Illinois Purchasing Act.

He was accused by the Better Government Association of pressuring the Conservation Department into buying 1,232 acres of land in Calhoun County north of St. Louis for $307,908.

The land was sold in December 1969 to the J. J. Corbett Real Estate Co. in Hardin by River View Estates Corp., a now defunct California-based concern.

Sen. Cecil Partee, D-Chicago, chairman of the Ethics Board, said the inquiry centered on whether Corbett received any pecuniary benefits from an alleged $15,000 which River View Estates gave to the St. Louis Catholic Charities at the request of Mrs. Corbett after the land transaction.

The donation was to have been in lieu of the normal commission, Corbett has said. In his affidavit Corbett said neither he nor his wife "received any pecuniary benefits whatsoever for the sale."

He agreed to submit copies of his 1969 and 1970 income tax returns to determine if any tax deductions were made because of the contribution.

Corbett was sworn in as state representative in January 1969. The State Purchasing Act prohibits the state from entering a contract when a legislator is involved in the transaction.

The reading Wednesday was the coldest in 11 months. February of 1971 brought a minus nine on the 2nd and a minus one on the 10th. Only four readings of below zero were recorded in 1971 according to the official weather observation station located at the WLDSS transmitter site on the Old State Road.

The minus four reading is by no means a record. Records indicate it was minus 16 back in 1940 on Jan. 5.

Many residents were kept busy coaxing their autos to start and service stations reported a brisk business in batteries Wednesday morning.

Europe And Russia—

Findley Plans Tour As 'Bean Merchant'

Representative Paul Findley (R-Ill.) announced that he will travel to several European countries this month with members of the House Foreign Affairs Subcommittee on Europe and make a special trip to the Soviet Union to meet with Soviet officials.

The decision to go to Moscow resulted from Findley's meeting with Soviet Agriculture Minister Vladimir Matskevich on December 17, when the Russian official was touring the United States. At that meeting, which took place in the Washington offices of the Department of Agriculture, the U.S. farm-belt Congressman and the Soviet Agriculture Minister discussed recent purchases of large quantities of corn by the Russians. In addition to encouraging increasing corn purchases still further, Findley urged Matskevich to consider the benefits of soybeans for human consumption, as well as livestock feed.

According to Findley, whose Congressional district ranks high in the production of both corn and beans:

"Soybeans have long been used as high-protein animal feed in the United States. Now that the Soviet Union has decided to build up its livestock herds, it may be to their advantage to purchase large quantities of U.S. grown soybeans for cattle feed."

"Equally important, scientists at the University of Illinois have recently discovered a new blanching process which makes soybeans tasty for human consumption. The discovery offers a new and economical source of high protein food. As the Soviets build up their animal herds in the coming years, they may also want to consider importing edible soybeans from the U.S. to supplement their meat supplies."

"When I mentioned this new discovery to the Soviet Agriculture Minister and told him of my desire to visit Moscow, he told me to 'Come, and bring your soybeans.' While in Moscow, I hope to host a meal at which edible soybeans will be served to prominent Soviet officials. This will give them an opportunity to taste for themselves this important new discovery."

Representative Findley will be accompanied on the trip by Mrs. Findley. Except for one leg of the journey on a government plane, Mrs. Findley will travel at private expense.

Mrs. Margaret Ann McFarland, 61, of 321 Fulton street, widow of Arthur "Diz" McFarland, died Wednesday evening at Passavant hospital.

She was born at Waverly, Dec. 16, 1910, daughter of Newton and Ola Morris Elliott. Her husband, Arthur "Diz" McFarland died Oct. 1, 1970.

These brothers and sisters survive: John Elliott, Winifred Smith, Sterling Elliott and Mrs. Florence Schillinger, all of Jacksonville; Newton Elliott Jr. of Alton; Nancy Benham of Canandaigua, N.Y.; and Kenneth Elliott of Kankakee.

One sister, Delphia, preceded in death.

The deceased was a member of the First Baptist church.

The body was taken to Williamson Funeral Home. Funeral arrangements are incomplete and will be announced later.

Mrs. L.E. Staff, Former Resident Dies In West

Word has been received here of the death of a former resident, Mrs. Mabelle Elizabeth Staff, widow of Dr. Leonard E. Staff, Sr., Sunday morning at the Hayden Manor Rest Home in Scottsdale, Arizona. She was 86 years of age.

She was born in Keokuk, Iowa, July 16, 1885. The Staffs moved to Jacksonville in 1915 and resided here at 1008 West State street until 1952, when they moved to Tempe, Ariz. Dr. Staff died in 1970.

While residents here, the Staffs were members of the Westminster Presbyterian church, now First Presbyterian church. Mrs. Staff was active in the Order of the Eastern Star, White Shrine of Jerusalem and Masonic activities.

Surviving are two sons, Dr. Leonard E., Jr., of Tempe, Arizona, and William A. of Evansville, and a daughter, Mrs. Wedell A. Berg of Puyallup, Wash. There are eight grandchildren.

Funeral services will be at 11 a.m. Thursday at the Carr Memorial Chapel in Tempe with burial in that city.

The family suggests that friends consider memorials to the First Presbyterian church here.

Home Burns At Murrayville

MURRAYVILLE — Extensive water and smoke damage was the result of a fire Wednesday evening at a mobile home in Murrayville.

Volunteer Fire Chief Tom Schierl said the call was received in the early evening from John Hobbs, owner of the mobile home, located on West Rimbey Street.

When firemen arrived at the vacated trailer, it was burning in the area of the water heater. Mr. and Mrs. Hobbs and their four children were uninjured.

Cause of the fire was not determined.

FIREMEN CALLED TO WEST STATE ST.

Jacksonville firemen were called to the N. J. Schindler residence, 1209 W. State St., at 5:47 p.m. Wednesday. Firemen cleared a plugged chimney flue. There was no fire or damage.

TOOL BOX STOLEN

Leslie Woods of Ashland reported to city police Wednesday that a tool box and tools valued at $150 were stolen from his truck. The truck was parked at the rear of 220 E. State St., between 4:30 p.m. and 6 p.m., when the theft occurred.
